FIRE SWEEPS MOTORSHIP BABINDA

Vessel Burns at Sea Off Santa Cruz; Crew Forced to Take to Boats by Rapid Spread of Flames; All Are Rescued

Steamer Cello Nearby Gets Wireless Call For Aid and Picks Up Sailors; Blaze Spreads Through Craft

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(By International News Service.)—The motorship Babinda burned at sea early today off Santa Cruz, 140 miles south of this port.

Her crew put off in small boats and were saved by the steamer Cello, which heard her distress call.

According to radio advice received here, the fire was discovered at 3:45 a. m. in the engine room of the Babinda, which was en route to San Pedro from Astoria laden with lumber.

The fire swept the ship like tinder, and 25 minutes later the S. O. S. call was broadcast.

It is reported the flames burning at the time boats were lowered and all aboard were forced to quit the ship in haste.

The Cello was only a few miles away and attracted by the S. O. S. call made speed to the scene and picked up the crew, numbering about twenty.

AID FOR SAILORS CLOSE AT HAND

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Fire burst out in the engine room of the motorship Babinda, threatening the fuel tank, when she was off Santa Cruz, Calif., early today, and after the vessel called for help the steam schooner Cello removed the crew. Wireless messages describing the fire and the rescue were picked up by the beach station of the Federal Telegraph company here.

The Cello, too, had been coming north from San Pedro, and the two ships were traveling not many miles apart when the Babinda's S. O. S. filled the air.

Apparently the Babinda's wireless set was abandoned soon after she called for aid, as local stations picked up no details after the S. O. S. until the Cello reached the scene. The fire on the Babinda still burned at daylight, according to word from the Cello.

BURNING SHIP SEEN FROM SHORE.

The Babinda was one of the best known of the coastwise fast mailers. She was built in 1913. For a long time she has been the "paper boat," alternating with her sister ship Boobyalla in carrying print paper from the north to the big and Los Angeles. She was owned by the Ocean Motorship company of 310 California street, San Francisco.

The Babinda, which was in command of Captain H. Maland, was built in Seattle in 1913. She was 125 feet long, 48 of beam and with a depth of hold of 24 feet. Her gross tonnage was 3098 tons. Her motors developed 1000 horsepower. The vessel ran from Seattle to Oakland and then to San Francisco and San Pedro, returning to pick up a general cargo for the north. She was to have sailed tonight from the Lawrence Terminal at the foot of Jefferson street for Seattle.

The Babinda operated with the fleet of the Ocean Motorship company which consists of the motorships Benowa, Boobyalla, Cethana, Codelia, Chalmers and Culbarga. The Codelia was wrecked last week during a storm in the north.

BURNING VESSEL SEEN FROM HERE.

SANTA CRUZ, March 3.—Spectators on the pier here, looking through marine glasses, saw the burning and abandoned motorship Babinda, about 100 miles to seaward today, the flames leaping from her waist to her trucks. She appeared to be drifting slowly ashore. The rescue ship Cello was standing by.

The passenger liner Harvard bound from San Pedro to San Francisco, was standing by at the time the fire broke out on the Babinda, and stood by long enough to find out that all of the crew had been taken off. Several fishing launches put out from here, to the burning vessel, but to the shore observers there seemed but little chance that any vessel would be able to put a towline aboard.

The sight of the burning vessel drew hundreds to the beaches and the pier. The vessel was lost at times in the dense smoke that surrounded her, indicating that the fire had reached the fuel tanks.

Ashes of Aide to Lincoln Will be Strewn on Hills

Last Wish of Romantic Berkeley Character To Be Granted.

BERKELEY, March 3.—Because he loved to sit in the Berkeley hills and watch the sunset, the ashes of Leander Robinson Baxter, one-time aide to President Lincoln, Indian fighter with General Custer, descendant of British aristocracy and Beau Brummel of early-day mining camps in South Dakota, will be scattered to the four winds from the hills.

Baxter, who was 73 years old, died yesterday in an Oakland hospital. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Edna Baxter Lawson, 1445 Le Roy avenue, associated with the University of California in the purchasing department.

The passing of Baxter ends an eventful and romantic career. Descendant of British nobility and a kin of the Duke of Salisbury, Baxter comes of a family whose members journeyed from England in the Mayflower. A pilgrim settlement in one of the original thirteen colonies was named for the Baxters.

SERVED AS AIDE TO EMANCIPATOR.

During the Civil War Baxter as a youth served as an aide on the staff of Lincoln and in the late twenties, attracted by the stories of romance and adventure which came from the west, he left his home in Wisconsin and traveled to South Dakota. In the Dakotas Baxter joined the forces of General Custer and was with that famous Indian fighter in most of his major engagements with the redskins. Baxter was a follower of the Dakota mining camps, a man of education, police and refinement, who left a distinguished presence in those early days to the rough surroundings which held for him a strange fascination and romance. A man of fastidious appearance he was commonly called "count" because of the trimness and dignity of his appearance.

Baxter was a graduate of Beloit and of the University of Wisconsin and a deep scholar and thinker. A year ago he came to California to be with his only daughter.

ASKS ASHES BE SCATTERED.

Baxter's love of the outdoors made the Berkeley hills a joy to him and much of his time until his last illness was spent in the region adjoining the university campus. As a last request he asked that his ashes be scattered from the hills back of the Greek Theater, a spot he loved best of all. His wishes will be carried out by his daughter. Funeral services will be held at 3:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at undertaking parlors at Fifteenth and Jefferson streets, Oakland, with Rev. W. R. E. Hodgkin, rector of St. Mark's church officiating. Cremation will follow and the ceremony of scattering the ashes will take place on Monday.

CRAZED VETERAN BATTLES POLICE

Shell-Shocked Warrior Has Hallucination That He's Fighting Germans.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CLEVELAND, O., March 3.—A wounded and shell-shocked veteran of the war here today had a hallucination that he was fighting off "murdering Germans" at the Verdun front, wounded two policemen and his brother and held half a hundred policemen at bay for seven hours early today, despite the barrage of pistol shots and "tear bombs" The insane veteran, John Weitzel, 37, who served with the Fifth division overseas, was finally captured by a strange trick by Captain William McMasters and confined in the county jail.

The capture came after Weitzel was driven to the window for air from effects of the gas bombs. He was seen waving a white shirt as a flag of truce and yelled that he surrendered. When he refused to throw his gun out of the window, police refused to accept the surrender and fired a fusillade of shots to drive him back into the "tear gas." Meantime, Captain McMasters had crept upstairs. He had been shot in the hand by Weitzel earlier during the siege. McMasters rushed into the room and overpowered him.

"I hadn't the heart to shoot him," McMasters said. "He got that way defending his country."

collapsed. Weitzel told the police he thought he was Germans. "The shots and the bombs made it seem just like the Verdun front," he said. "Then again I thought they might take me back to that terrible government hospital I was taken to over there and back to the front."

C. OF C. URGES ACTION FOR MORE WATER

Greater Supply For Eastbay Cities Declared Necessary to Keep Pace With Development, Experts Report

Extensive Study of Present Situation Shows Limit of Present Safe Yield Will Be Reached in Two Years

Immediate action must be taken to secure a much greater supply of water for the cities of the Eastbay, and especially Oakland, if the development of the community industrially as well as residentially is not to be greatly hampered, according to the report of the special water committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce made public today.

After an extensive study of the water situation the committee reported that with the present growth of the community the limit of the present safe yield of the East Bay Water company would be reached in 1925, and the limit of ultimate development, by the utilization of properties now under its control, about 1930.

SUGGESTIONS MADE FOR WATER SUPPLY.

After concluding that the acquisition of an additional water supply is imperative, the committee suggests that it may be secured in two ways. These are:

First, the acquisition and development of the necessary rights and properties by the existing public utility agency, the East Bay Water company, and second, for the communities themselves to take over the properties and works of that company and proceed with the necessary acquisitions and developments.

Major J. H. Wadsworth was chairman of the committee, which was composed of Major George L. Dillman, E. C. Bradley, B. H. Pendleton and A. E. Chandler.

MEN HAVE HAD VALUABLE EXPERIENCE.

Major Wadsworth, who is a resident of Oakland, graduated from the engineering department of Yale in 1886 and for twenty years was an engineer in the United States army, serving on river and harbor work.

Major Dillman is a civil engineer, and graduated from Annapolis in 1880. Since 1882 he has done railroad and hydraulic engineering work. He was state engineer for the state of Oregon and the first chief engineer of the Western Pacific railroad. He is a resident of Oakland at the present time. Formerly he was a resident of Alameda, and a member of the city council of that city.

A. E. Chandler is a resident of Berkeley. He was graduated from the University of California in 1886, from the college of civil engineering. He was a former president of the state water commission of the state of California and a former state engineer of the state of Nevada.

E. C. Bradley is a resident of Berkeley. He is a former vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. He also was assistant secretary of the interior under Secretary Franklin K. Lane, and he represented the department of the interior in the investigation of the Colorado river reclamation project.

B. H. Pendleton is a resident of Oakland. He was graduated from Yale in 1884. As a member of the city council of Oakland, he has been intimately associated with Oakland's water needs. He is a former member of the civil service board.

INDUSTRIES WILL NEED GREATER SUPPLY.

Although the committee notes that the development of the present water supply would probably meet the normal growth of the population until 1930, it asserted that the location in this community of even a single new industry having so large a water requirement as that of the Standard Oil company's plant at Richmond might easily cause the existing supply to become insufficient a full year earlier.

In its report the committee quotes Philip E. Harroun, consulting hydraulic engineer, who made a report for the water commission of the Eastbay cities in 1920. Harroun said:

"The pressing need of additional water supplies in the Eastbay cities is a matter of common knowledge. As far back as 1894 or 1895 it was evident that the margin between consumption and available supply was so small that immediate steps should be taken in order to bring in new supplies. With this object in view, investigations were initiated by the Contra Costa Water company, and continued by its successor, the

Cannon Leaving Congress After 46 Years; Helps in Three War Problems.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(By International News Service.)—Uncle Joe Cannon, the Congressional patriarch, who is rounding up 46 years of almost continuous service in Congress, believes there is something in the air.

"I came into Congress in 1873, hopefully," he said today. "And here fifty years later I am leaving it—still full of hope and confidence that all will be well with these United States, despite the caterwauling of critics and professional pessimists."

"When I came in we were in the midst of reconstruction after the war. I leave it today still in the midst of reconstruction after war. I have helped in the reconstruction problems left by three wars. I shall never see another."

"On the whole, I am content. The world is getting better."

PLANES HOP OFF ON MONTH TRIP

Six Air Machines Start on First Leg of Trip to Cover 6000 Miles.

CROWLEY, La., March 3.—The six DeHavilland airplanes en route from San Antonio to Porto Rico passed over here at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Crowley is 140 miles from New Orleans by direct route.

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 3.—The six giant De Havilland airplanes, en route from Kelly Field, San Antonio, to Porto Rico, passed directly over the business section of Lake Charles at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The planes were about 3000 feet up.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 3.—(By International News Service.)—Six big army planes hopped off at 8 o'clock this morning on the first leg of the 6000-mile trip, which will end when they land at Bolling Field, Washington, early in April. Captain Thomas G. Lanphier, commander of the flight, took the air first and pointed the nose of his ship in the direction of New Orleans, which is the objective of the first day's journey.

A short stop, Captain Lanphier stated, probably would be made at Ellington Field, near Houston, on the way. The trip is to include Florida, Cuba and Porto Rico. It is then planned to return to the national capital, the machines flying along the Atlantic coast.

Twelve aviators are making the trip in the six planes. They are: Captain Thomas G. Lanphier, Lieutenants Frank G. Morgan, C. E. Austin, N. Longfellow, C. V. Haynes, J. A. Woodruff, G. C. McDonald, R. K. Stoner, Erik N. Nelson, D. H. Dunton, Guy Kirksey and E. T. Selzer.

Wires Cut; Bank Robbed of $5000

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 3.—Three armed yeggmen bound and gagged three employees in the telephone exchange at Yaletown, near here, at 4 a. m. today, cut all telephone wires, drilled into the vault of the First State bank, of Facot, and escaped with between $4000 and $5000 worth of Liberty bonds and $500 in cash.

Their getaway in an automobile. The first knowledge bank officials had of the robbery was when a Newburg of Yaletown failed to connect with "central" and went to the telephone exchange to ascertain the trouble. He freed the bound men and Sheriff Thompson of Vancouver was summoned to the scene.

Martin Klaus, cashier of the State Bank, drove eight miles to the nearest telephone to give the alarm.

SENATE PUTS QUIETUS ON COURT PLAN

U. S. Participation in International Tribunal Voted Down by 49 to 24; Party Lineup With 3 Democrats

Sixty-Seventh Session of Congress to Close at Noon Sunday; Sugar Price Probe Leads to the Final Fight

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The administration plan for American participation in the international court organized by the League of Nations was finally put on the shelf for this session of Congress by the Senate today, when it voted 49 to 24 against proceeding with consideration of the resolution of Senator King, Democrat, Utah, proposing to grant the president the necessary authority.

The vote presented an almost straight party lineup, all of the Republicans except Senator Norbeck, of South Dakota, voting against considering the King resolution. Three Democrats, Shields, Tennessee, Walsh, Massachusetts, and Walsh, Montana, voted with the Republicans in opposition.

LESSER BILLS BOB UP NEAR CLOSE.

Its major tasks all but completed, the sixty-seventh Congress found time in its closing hours today to take up many of the lesser bills and resolutions, such as usually die unnoticed amid the hurry and confusion of a session's final windup.

From the opening of the last day's work in both Senate and House discussion of legislative "chicken feed" was the order of business, with many members seeking, and in many cases finding, an opportunity to get a vote on this or that private or local measure which they never heretofore had hoped to bring to the stage of action.

The only bill of first magnitude to which attention had to be given during the day, was the farm credit measure as finally agreed to last night by Senate and House conferees. Acceptance of the conference report by the Senate and House themselves was more or less a formality.

SUNDAY NOON TO SEE FINAL FALL OF GAVEL.

Late night sessions were expected in both Senate and House with a view to finally clearing the decks and leaving only formalities for the brief meeting tomorrow preceding the final fall of the gavel Sunday noon. To avoid a technical Sabbath meeting and still comply with the letter of the law for emergency sessions, the conferees planned to recess tonight until an hour or so before noon tomorrow, thus making Sunday an extension of today's "legislative" day.

Dozens of bills and hundreds of nominations were in today's legislative hopper, but most of the 14,900 on the calendars were doomed, their loss conceded and no effort at resuscitation planned.

Today also was a day of farewells and "swan songs" of a scramble for accommodations on outgoing trains, of packing and clearing in Capitol offices and of preparations for the first long vacation had by Congress in eight years.

BY PAUL R. MALLON. United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A strong fight will be made in the closing hours of the Senate for passage of the Brookhart resolution providing for a senatorial investigation of the rising price of sugar.

The investigation is favored by the Department of Commerce, are forcing the prices upward by circulating false stories about short crops and attempting to credit their reports to official American and Cuban sources.

If Senate leaders don't voluntarily allow the resolution to come up, Brookhart is prepared to force action. The upward market movements yesterday in the face of Brookhart's demand for the investigation have strengthened the feeling in the Senate in support of the resolution.

Movie Actress Attacked Bites Animal on Ear Until Its Jaws Free Her.

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—When a malamute bit Irene Rich, motion picture actress, on the arm, she bit the dog on the ear, according to reports reaching Los Angeles from Bear Valley, in San Bernardino county.

The deep snows and pine trees of the valley were being utilized by a motion picture company as the settings for scenes in a Canadian Northwest play. Miss Rich played the heroine and was sledded across the snows by a team of six malamutes. When the dogs came within the camera lines, two began fighting. Miss Rich tried to stop them and seized one of the dogs. It bit her on the arm. She bit it on the ear until it released its hold. Then she fainted.

She was expected here today for an examination by physicians for possible traces of rabies.

Chihuahua Chief Executive Resigns

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

MEXICO CITY, March 3.—Governor Ignacio Enriquez of Chihuahua today resigned the governorship and asked President Obregon to give him an honorable discharge as governor of the Mexican army. The governor said he was resigning his post because of ill health and he desires to retire to private life, free from political affiliations.

Gen. Allen Deplores Recall From Rhine

NEW YORK, March 3.—(By International News Service.)—Deplored the withdrawal of the Rhine army as the "loss of a great military training school," but refusing to discuss the French policy in Germany, Major General Henry T. Allen, commander in chief of the American army of occupation, returned with the last of his command to the United States today. The general spoke in a tone of regret of the passing of his crack unit in the Rhineland.

England Imposes Heavy Rum Duty

LONDON, March 3.—London is holding in bond 4,500,000 gallons of rum for maturing purposes. The liquor is stored in 10,000 casks at the West India docks. Three years from now, when it comes out of bond, it will pay a duty of approximately $17.50 a gallon, a rate so high that it will measurably check consumption.

Former Klan Chief Arrested, Released

ATLANTA, Ga., March 3.—Edward William Jones, former grand wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was arrested here today on an indictment, issued against him by the federal grand jury at Houston, Texas, charging violation of the Mann act. He was released on $1500 bond.

FRENCH GRAB RHINE PORT; RUHR OUTLET

Further Advance Toward Frankfort Based on Alleged Acts of Sabotage; Shipping Is Controlled

250 German Police Round Up at Rothhausen by Invading Force and Marched to Unknown Destination

BERLIN, March 3.—(By United Press.)—The French today occupied two of the most important industrial centers of the Rhine valley, Mannheim and Darmstadt. Near Rothhausen last night French troops seized 250 German police and marched them away to an unknown destination.

The advance of several companies which seized three cities puts the French much nearer to Frankfort and the Germans fear this city may next be taken. The movement was incited by acts of sabotage, the French commander state, and is fiscal in nature.

Somewhat later Karlsruhe, further to the south, was also taken by the French.

About 300 troops were used in the occupation of Mannheim, 120 of these being their baggage and camping in the Hilda school house, while others scattered throughout industrial quarters. The Ludwigsburg railroad station and the Mannheim customs office were occupied.

At Darmstadt a company of white French troops, and, according to reports from German sources, one of colored, marched into the city and confiscated railroad workshops.

By seizing the harbor section of Mannheim the French control Rhine shipping and the customs. Posts to put this control immediately into effect were established. The Germans have frequently, incorrectly reported advances upon these cities. Today's occupation was effected swiftly. It was a shock to the inhabitants, who immediately arranged measures of resistance. Railway workers at both Darmstadt and Mannheim quit work when they found the French in their midst. The invaders were active in the Ruhr as well, rounding up officials who are to be deported, arresting and disarming police, while cavalry and tanks occupied and controlled the center of Gelsenkirchen. Near Rothhausen last night 6000 French troops with tanks and landed a gun surprised and surrounded a company of "green police," marching 250 of the Germans away to an unknown destination.

Weather Man Again Promises Sunshine

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Another clear day with sunshine and a warm atmosphere is promised for tomorrow's holiday by the United States weather bureau. The storm has moved eastward and is now central over the Rocky Mountain states. Light rain fell from Central California southward, the heaviest precipitation being noted in the neighborhood of Los Angeles and the showers extending to the Mexican line.

The prediction for the next 24 hours is for fair weather for all of the Pacific coast states.

Youths Apologize for 'Removing' of Man

CHICO, March 3.—Shows the error of their ways by District Attorney William E. Roth, five Durham boys, who admit "removing" A. W. Morgue from Durham while the school bond election was being held there last Saturday, have tendered their apologies.

Their act, and offered to pay him for any inconvenience he might have suffered.

Morgue, however, was unforgiving, and declined to accept the apologies, reiterating his statement that he intends to prosecute. No legal action has yet been taken.

They Recommend New Eastbay Water Supply

division. This was completed and practically the entire system metered in 1911. As a result there was a decrease in the consumption of water by those consumers who had been unmetered and under flat rates. The second factor, and far more influential reason, was that during this period there was in general a rainfall and run-off over the normal. The combination of these two factors resulted in there being no actual shortage to the individual consumer until 1915. In the late spring and early summer of 1915, the public had forcibly impressed upon it the inability of the present supply to meet the necessities of the people, when they were forced to discontinue all lawn irrigation and curtail the use of water to the absolute limit of the barest domestic requirements, and this in spite of the fact that the companies supplying water to the district made every possible effort to supplement the yield of the systems through the use of the remaining ground water supplies which had not been before utilized because of their insignificant and temporary yield, high cost, or other factors.

SERIOUS LACK OF WATER FOR YEARS.

Although not so apparent to the individual, there has been a serious lack of water for several years past to meet the requirements of the commercial and manufacturing interests. This has been due not only to the fact that the sources were deficient in capacity to supply their requirements, but also that in many portions of the distribution system in the commercial and factory sections the size of the mains is insufficient to permit the delivery of water in the volume required, even though it were available at the source. An ample supply of pure water is one of the most necessary factors in the building up of the commercial and manufacturing elements of any city. The lack of this supply in this case has resulted in a deferred industrial and commercial development, which is reflected unquestionably in all phases of the community life.

An attempt has been made to determine what the normal consumption of the East Bay communities should be in order to support its normal life. The amount of water supplied by the present system is not a measure in any way of that which would be used were it available under proper conditions of service and cost. For many years past the people have believed that the shortage of water was imminent and that the greatest conservation must be had in its use. In addition to this, the general impression of the people has been that the rates charged for water were excessive. The combination of these circumstances has reduced the use of water by all consumers to an absolute minimum.

And when we also consider that the industrial and commercial interests have been deferred in their development, and are much below what they would be under normal, free and unrestricted use, it is readily seen that the water supply has been delivered by the present systems become of but little value as an indication of the amounts which the communities require for their proper and economic development.

APPROXIMATION OF AMOUNTS REQUIRED.

The amount of water which the Eastbay cities would use under normal conditions, with adequate supply and a cost considered reasonable, is impossible, in the nature of the case, of exact determination, and must be approximated. In 1912 the advisory board of army engineers, in its study of the water conditions pertaining to the Metropolitan Bay district came to the conclusion that the use of water in the year 1910 by the Eastbay cities was 114 gallons per capita per day. Of this amount eighty-four gallons were furnished by the water companies and thirty gallons from private wells. Since that time there would be a decrease in the per capita consumption, due to the metering in 1911 of the remaining proportion of the Oakland division. On the other hand, experience shows that on all systems of water works there is a gradual increase in the per capita consumption from year to year, due to the advance in the arts and manufacturing processes, and to meet an increased demand due to the general rise in level of the community life. We also have here a condition of repression in use, both for domestic and commercial and manufacturing purposes, resulting in an under-consumption, which would be quickly recovered were adequate economic supplies available.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN CHARACTER OF CITIES.

An important change is also taking place in the character of the cities. In the past these communities have been largely residential, with a correspondingly low rate of water consumption. With the realization of the great advantages due to rail and water transportation, topography, housing and other essential requirements, there is taking place a great change in the industrial and commercial interests, and this change is certain to become a dominant factor. With this change there will come a correspondingly greater demand for water for the use of these interests, and this demand will probably be the greatest demand made upon any system of supply. The committee concurs in the views expressed by Harroun, although it does not subscribe to the idea, which might be inferred from his statement, that a greatly enlarged supply can be secured at a less unit cost to the consumers than they now pay, unless a portion of the cost is secured from other sources than water rates.

COMPARISONS MADE WITH OTHER CITIES.

In concluding its report the committee said: Considering our findings as to the possible development of local sources of supply, it becomes very clear that the present water supply is now insufficient, and that the greatest and most rapid possible increase in supply from nearby sources will not greatly relieve the situation.

The per capita consumption of water of several of the larger cities of this state (other than these Eastbay cities) in 1904, as given in a report upon possible sources of supply for the city of Sacramento by Messrs. Charles Gilman Hyde and George H. Wilhelm, consulting engineers, and Frank C. Miller, city engineer, was as follows:

	Gallons daily (entirely unmetered)
Sacramento	231

the great mail order house, I have found friends.

"During the two years of our contract, not one discourtesy nor display of ill-will has marred the pleasure of our association. The public has noted your attitude toward this government service, has approved it, and I leave you with the keenest regard, but the President has advanced me to a department of more diversified duties, and, just as you have been loyal to my direction, I must also be to his."

"There is a sadness in doing even the simplest thing for the last time, but through this, my last, official communication to you, please be assured that my recollections of our relations are altogether kindly and I regret to say—goodbye."

GOLD AND SILVER INDUSTRY TO BE PROBED.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(By International News Service.)—A recess investigation of conditions in the gold and silver mining industry was ordered today by the Senate.

A resolution authorizing a special committee to investigate "the alarming decrease in gold and silver production" was passed unanimously. The committee will report its findings to the next Congress.

MCMARY APPROVED AS CURRENCY CONTROLLER.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(By International News Service.)—The nomination of James G. McNary, southwestern banker, to be controller of the currency, was ordered favorably reported to the Senate today by the banking and currency committee, and was placed before the Senate in executive session this afternoon.

If any serious effort is made to confirm McNary, Senator Souzou of Michigan will hold up all business with a filibuster against the confirmation. Couzens has a six-hour speech prepared in opposition to McNary.

SENATORS ATTACK VETERANS' BUREAU.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Hospitalization of veterans of the world war "is a blot on the record of the government," said Senator Couzens today in a speech before the Senate. He attacked the Veterans' Bureau for its failure to provide adequate care for the veterans, and for its excessive expenditure of money.

There is no question in our minds but that supplying water to its citizens is a public utility which should be owned by the citizens; and as stated in the introductory summary, it is the public utility which, when publicly owned, has generally produced satisfactory results.

The matter of the best source of additional supply has been given considerable study. Solutions of the problem are reached by the process of elimination. Many suggested supplies are eliminated for doubtful title, insufficient quantity, impurity or other evident faults. The last eliminations will require some time and money.

It can be said now that there are a number of supplies that seem satisfactory in quality, quantity, cost and time of development. The final selection can properly be left to the authority having charge of the execution of construction.

It is our opinion that steps should be taken immediately to secure at the earliest possible date a much greater supply of water than can be secured, even by the most comprehensive local development of available sources. In order that the growth of the community, industrially as well as residentially, be not greatly hampered.

Main Things Accomplished By Sixty-Seventh Congress

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Main achievements of the Sixty-Seventh Congress include the following:

FOREIGN AFFAIRS—Established formal peace with Germany by ratifying a separate treaty.

Ratified the treaty of the Washington Conference, limiting world naval construction, and establishing a four-power alliance to maintain the peace of the Pacific and Far East.

Created machinery for the settlement of Europe's $11,000,000,000 indebtedness to the United States, and ratified the settlement with Great Britain.

Established a Mixed Claims Commission to settle claims between Germany and Americans arising out of the war.

Forbidden the President to appoint a member of the Reparations Commission except on authorization from Congress.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS—Enacted a high protective tariff law.

Repeated excess profits and luxury taxes, imposed during war time, and revised other tax laws.

Enacted a budget system for the Federal government.

Enacted more agricultural legislation than any Congress in history. Restricted immigration by enacting a three per cent law.

Established the peace-time strength of the army at 125,000 men and the navy at 36,000 men.

Passed a soldiers' bonus bill, which was vetoed by the President.

Passed the Bureau bill, increasing Civil War pensions, also vetoed by the President.

Enacted a Federal maternity law in which the government co-operates with the States in protection of motherhood and childhood.

Tightened up the Volstead law by enacting an anti-beer bill.

Put the big packing industries more completely under Federal direction by enacting the Packer Control bill.

Brought grain exchanges under Federal supervision by regulating dealings in grain futures.

Authorized a searching inquiry into the basic bills of the coal industry by a Federal Commission.

Appropriated $1,000,000 for prosecution of war grafters.

Established a Federal Narcotic Board to better regulate distribution of habit-forming drugs.

Effected considerable reduction in the cost of running the Federal government by decreasing appropriations.

today by Senator Overman of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Senate appropriations committee. He said this was an increase over the present fiscal year and much larger than the last pre-war year of 1918, when the total was $1,071,000,000.

The $158,000,000 deficiency bill, with its appropriation of $400,000 for the federal coal commission, was prepared during the morning for transmission to the President. Another bill, to which final approval was given was that of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, extending the authority of the coal commission.

It was a busy day for Vice-President Coolidge. Confusion often reigned in the Senate, with a dozen members on their feet at once, in the last determined efforts to get through minor bills. Displays of tart tempers cropped off frequently to the amusement of large crowds in the galleries. A roar went up when one senator suggested that a colleague was "not only asleep, but also talking in his sleep."

The approach of the end of the session, when all pending bills will die automatically, did not deter members in both Senate and House from introducing new measures for the record.

GRIEVING WIDOW KILLS SELF WHEN MATE SUGGUMBS

Los Angeles Woman Commits Suicide to Avoid Lonely Life.

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—(By International News Service.)—Rather than go through life alone, Mrs. Nina Jacobson, 25, ended her life today in her Hollywood boulevard apartment by inhaling gas a few hours before her husband, Ludwig Jacobson, who died as the result of an operation, the tragedy was discovered by Theodore Jacobson, a brother-in-law.

All arrangements had been made for the husband's funeral. The young widow was prostrated, and although her brother-in-law did all possible to console her, her grief proved greater than her desire to live.

Two unsigned notes were found near the woman's body. One read: "I want to die—please do not save me."

The other note stated: "When I am dead give me my little sweater and suit. Don't braid my hair or fix it up. I wanted to give the flowers to Jack but didn't. They are for him—all for him. The money is in my purse."

First M. E.

"How Big Is Your Soul?" will be the subject of the sermon at the First Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow morning. In the evening the topic will be "Which Would You Rather Have Been, Moses or Tut-Ankh-Amen?" Dr. John Stephens, the pastor, will preach at both services.

In the evening the large choir, consisting of quartet and chorus, will give another program in the series on "The Development of Church Music." For this service the selections are from the works of Sir John Stainer, the famous English organist and composer.

The chorus choir will be assisted by Marion Hovey Brower, soprano; Elise Santa Crane, contralto; Herbert P. Mott, tenor; and Robert Baxter Todd, baritone. Bessie Barry Roland is organist and director.

The second in the series of Church Nights will be held next Wednesday evening. William G. Landers, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will furnish the special feature, an illustrated talk on Australia.

Activities of WOMEN

Social Leaders To Return in Late Summer

From Rome comes word that Mrs. Edson Adams and her daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Elita, will return to the bay country late in the summer, the two having put in a most profitable and exciting winter in the south of Italy, where they were in constant touch with other American exiles of similar tastes and interests.

As for Miss Elita, she has taken a keen interest in all the art, archaic and modern, that Italy has to offer, bringing to it an appreciation borne of study with some of the best artists in San Francisco and New York. And en passant, while in Florence, she met Ralph Stackpole, the sculptor, her instructor for a time; and of course, under his guidance, the appreciation of the art treasures of the ancient city were intensified.

On returning they will go to their San Francisco home, with period stays in Piedmont during the gay months of the trailing summer.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA ANNOUNCES BETROTHAL

That Miss Mildred Estabrook will wed Matthew Henry Scott in a few days comes as a surprise to the college set, inasmuch as a betrothal was not announced until today.

The future of the latest Alpha Omega to announce his determination to wed is a member of the class of '23, U. C., where he was prominent in the affairs of the Abundantia Club, registering from Canada.

MAH JONGG TEA GIVEN FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Allene Jackson of Sacramento, betrothed to Harmon Butler, was the honor guest at a mah jongg tea a few days ago, whereas Mrs. Theodore Wright of Mendocino road was hostess.

The guests included many friends from San Francisco as well as from Piedmont and Berkeley—the young honoree having hosts of friends around the bay.

The house was adorned with Japanese cherry blossoms, the Oriental feeling being carried out in detail.

DOUBLE WEDDING AT LA JOLLA IMPORTANT

A wedding—a double ceremony—of interest to many round-the-bay folk was celebrated today at La Jolla in St. James-By-the-Sea, the quaint little church that dominates the town. Miss Margaret McLaughlin and Sibley Self, and Catherine Staats McLaughlin and Pernell Stewart Johnson. The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Smith McLaughlin—both of them frequent visitors about the bay.

Cards announcing the betrothal of Miss Mary Virginia Johnson and Charles Franklin Whitehead, and Miss Lucy Cowling Johnson and Leslie Fowler Barker were sent out a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilson, who motored south several weeks ago to anese cherry blossoms, the Oriental feeling being carried out in detail. Miss Jackson is the daughter of the Parker L. Jacksons, who made their home in Vernon street, Oakland, before their helira to the capital.

Madame Stella Jellica, the coloratura soprano, was the honor guest at a luncheon at the St. Francis Hotel, the guests including the Mesdames Harriet Barker, Henrietta Merrill, C. O'Brien and the Mesdames Dorothy Ritter, May Mullane, May O'Brien, Marie Shannon and Maye Rohrer.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Henry Lyon were hosts at a dinner party given in the Fabre room of the Hotel St. Francis this week, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Philip Prather, who are leaving for Texas shortly. Masses of spring blossoms adorned the table, at which covers were laid for the following:

Messrs. and mesdames—Alexander C. Hamilton, Edward G. Landis, Albert W. Witzel, Philip Prather, Philip Henry Lyon, Mrs. Joseph Thompson, Mr. Samuel O. Hall, Dr. Frank Rodolph.

First Baptist

Dr. John Snape will continue his series on "The Ten Commandments in Oakland Life" tomorrow night at the First Baptist church, using the topic, "The Eighth Commandment, or 'Is It Better to Steal Than to Starve?'"

Pilgrimage to Europe

Plans for a great Protestant pilgrimage to Europe next summer have been announced recently. Descendants of Huguenot, Walloon and Dutch settlers in this country will visit the great Protestant centers of Europe in a united tour which is being arranged by the Huguenot-Walloon-New Netherlands Tercentenary commission, appointed by the Federal Council of Churches to make arrangements for celebrating the three-hundredth anniversary of the settlement of New Netherlands, which embraced the region between the Delaware and Connecticut rivers, including New York city.

The Protestant churches regard the settlement of New Netherlands by Huguenot and Walloon refugees under the Dutch West India company as a matter of great religious significance and one that has influenced this country greatly.

Though the plans call particularly for representatives from the important Huguenot, Walloon and Dutch settlements in this country, provision also is being made for each state to send representatives, and it is believed that nearly every city in the country will be represented.

Though the tour is preliminary to the celebration in 1924 of the three hundredth anniversary of the settlement of New Netherlands, it also is intended to call attention to the Huguenot and Protestant refugee settlements in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana and Pennsylvania.

The anti-pathetic show by Russian communists to all forms of religion, including at the same time a purpose to substitute non-religious festivals in their place, was in evidence at the Christmas season. Holidays, according to those promoting the anti-Christmas campaign, leave a bad psychological impression on children and are decorations on trappings of dead religions. Angels are said to be mind. The communists in their campaign planned to take over the theaters in Moscow and, instead of having religious plays, proposed to stage satires attacking the League of Nations and the old Karamazov government.

Other religious festivals which are proposed to replace the Christmas season are the "Red Christmas" and the "New Year's Festival," which are planned in their place.

Women's Club Will Honor Miss Sherwin

By EDNA B. KINARD

Inspiration will be given to the organization of a local branch of the League of Women Voters in Sacramento by the official visit of Miss Belle Sherwin, chairman of the department of efficiency in government under the National League of Women Voters, and second vice-president of that important organization next week. Miss Sherwin comes to the Pacific coast from Cleveland, Ohio. She will arrive in the bay cities on Friday evening. En route she will carry for a conference with prominent women in the capital city who have been called together by the University Association leaders. Mrs. William Palmer Lucas, regional director of the National League of Women Voters, Miss Marion Delany, president of the state organization, and Mrs. A. E. Kluegel, will join Miss Sherwin in Sacramento and participate in the session which it is believed will create a strong supporting group to the California League of Women Voters.

An all-day conference with the national officer has been arranged for Saturday next in San Francisco. Officers and department chairmen in the northern district will meet with Miss Sherwin at 10:30 a. m. San Francisco center will hostess a luncheon in her honor, at which the relationship of the state and national organizations will be discussed.

Efficiency in government will be the subject for the 2:30 p. m. round table conference in which delegates from the various centers will participate. The representatives have been invited to bring reports of their activities or present special problems.

A forum for state chairmen is scheduled for Monday, March 13, before Miss Sherwin's departure for Los Angeles.

An exhibit of wild flowers is being planned in the Twentieth Century clubhouse, Berkeley, under the auspices of the art section of the College Women's Club for Thursday and Friday, May 3 and 4. An attempt will be made to assemble specimens of native flowers from the bay country, out the state as well as in the bay cities. Members who have friends or relatives in various sections are being recruited in a movement to interest them in the early summer show to the extent of contributing to the display. Mrs. Helen B. Camp is chairman of the art section.

A second exhibition is being planned by the group in the presentation of the paintings of Mrs. J. Veneration Cannon.

N. A. Davis, director of the Foreign Trades Club, will be the speaker before the College Women's Club at the regular meeting next Wednesday. A round table discussion will follow the address. Among the women who will participate are: Miss Henrietta Thompson, Miss Lucy Stebbins, Miss Bueretta and others.

The program is arranged by the Americanization section, Mrs. G. I. Doyle, chairman.

Two important section programs are scheduled for Monday. The current events study group will present the following discussions at 2:15 p. m. in the clubhouse: "Turkish Situation," Lillian Hope MacFarlane; "The French Invasion," Mrs. Pillsbury; "The Tower-Killing Bill," Kathleen Schaefer Fry; "Muscle Shoals," Frances P. Jones; "Current Topics," Ethel Wood Linney.

"Rough Hewn" (Dorothy Canfield), will be reviewed by Miss Isabel Maria before the fiction section which announces a program for 3:45 p. m.

News of the Churches

Evangelist Returns From Northwest

Evangelist H. A. Ironside has returned to Oakland after several months spent in an evangelistic tour of the Northwest. One of the campaigns was conducted at the First Baptist church of Vancouver, B. C.

Rev. Ironside is to preach tomorrow evening at the Gospel Auditorium, as well as on next Sunday evening. He will conduct an evangelistic campaign in Healdsburg from March 18 to April 1.

Trinity Episcopal

Continuing the series of sketches of the life and teaching of Jesus Christ at Trinity Episcopal church, the Rev. Lloyd B. Thomas will speak tomorrow morning on "The Tenacity of Unpopularity." Opposition to the liberal views of Jesus drove Him further away from the crowd and towards a final conflict with established authority, according to Rev. Thomas. This sermon will picture Jesus as He faces the failure of His early ministry.

The Rev. Savage, instructor in New Testament at the Pacific Divinity School, San Francisco, will preach at the evening service. His subject will be "The Church Divinity School and the Training of the Clergy."

Gerard Tallandier will give an organ recital beginning at 7:30 p. m. The program will include: "The New World Symphony" by Ivarak; "Spring Song" by Mendelssohn; "Elsa's Procession" by Wagner. The offertory will be a tenor solo by John W. King.

At the morning service, Tallandier will play "Tribute in G" by Frank Lyness, and "Psalm in D" by Henry Smart. Miss Roberta Berry and Miss Helen Forbes will sing a duet, "O Loving Voice of Jesus."

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. George E. Weikart will be the preacher, speaking on the subject of "The Church and Its Work." Friday at 8 p. m., the Rev. Thomas speaks on the message of "The Episcopal Church to Men of Today."

Afternoon services are held on Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock and on Friday at 4 o'clock, the latter being especially for children.

Daily morning prayer is read at 9 o'clock and evening prayer on Tuesday and Thursday at 6 o'clock. Club announces four important dates, the most important of which are the Spring Fashion Show in the Ivory ballroom of Hotel Oakland on the evening of March 20. The entire program and exhibition will be put on by club members. Mrs. Lavinia Harris is the general chairman.

Dr. Esther Allen Gaw, director of the personnel bureau at Mills College, will be the principal speaker at the regular luncheon on Monday, March 12, at Hotel Oakland. Dr. Gaw will explain the vocational guidance work which has been instituted at Mills College, marking an epoch on the Pacific coast in this form of education.

Clyde L. Seavey, of Sacramento, president of the state railroad commission, will be the guest of the Soroptimist club on Monday, March 19, discussing the work of that official body.

A members' program is announced for the first Monday of the month, Miss Cathleen C. Vician, who has recently returned from abroad, will show "Europe Through an Artist's Eye."

Mountain Climbing Contest Is Keen

Great interest is being manifested in the mountain climbing contest of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday School. The purpose of the contest is to secure new members and to bring up the average attendance.

The mountain being climbed is 50,000 feet high and one class, "The Hyperallion," taught by Robert Davies, has already attained the height of 15,000 feet. Last Sunday the attendance of the whole school numbered 557. It is the aim of the contest to bring the average attendance up to 600. The superintendent of the school is Frank N. Kornhaus; the director of religious education is Rev. Lloyd J. B. Taber.

First Presbyterian

At the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening Dr. Frank M. Sills, the pastor, has for his sermon topic, "Folks with Right Ideals I Know." Speaking of this sermon Dr. Sills said: "Ideals are the most important thing. As a man's ideals are so is the man. During the war it was the force of lofty ideals that swept everything before it, and what we need today is a return to right ideals. I know a number of people in Oakland who have right ideals and I am going to speak of them tomorrow evening." Dr. Sills will consider the following questions: Fred Stone, converted comedian, has the right ideal of salvation but what is it? Judge Lindsey has the right ideal of young people's companions, but what is it? Roosevelt has the right ideal of family life, but what is it? President Harding has the right ideal about the Bible, but what is it?

The Temple choir of fifty voices under the direction of Walter B. Kennedy have been preparing a series of Lenten programs and will present the first of these series on Sunday evening. These musicals will strike the note of the Cross and the joyous mood of Easter. Evensong's anthem, "Hosanna Jesus" from the Cantata Mater, and Dudley Buck's "Te Deum, in C" for quartet with solos, will be among the numbers given. The organ recital is of a Lenten nature consisting of "Fantasy on the Grail Motif" (Paraphrase by Wagner, Lorenz, and "Scene Religieuse" from "Hiroshige" by Jules Massenet.

At the morning service the subject of Dr. Sills's sermon is "Walking as Children of Light." The every member canvass of the First church will take place on Sunday afternoon, March 18.

WILMOT FACING FRESH CHARGES BY FEDERAL JURY

Former S. F. Prohibition Officer Now Accused of Suborning Perjury.

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—For Wilmot, former local prohibition officer, now serving a five years' sentence in the Federal prison at Leavenworth for bribery, is today facing two additional charges as a result of indictments returned by the Federal grand jury late yesterday.

Wilmot is charged in one indictment with perjury, and in the other with suborning of perjury, growing out of evidence submitted at his trial here last fall.

The jury findings stipulate the evidence false regarding the auto in which he made a trip to Sacramento to the time that the machine belonged to a local druggist.

Wilmot is charged with forcing Mrs. Scott to substantiate his testimony. She declared that, following the trial, he threatened to "get" her if she failed to support his statements, authorities stated.

Pilgrimage to Europe

Plans for a great Protestant pilgrimage to Europe next summer have been announced recently. Descendants of Huguenot, Walloon and Dutch settlers in this country will visit the great Protestant centers of Europe in a united tour which is being arranged by the Huguenot-Walloon-New Netherlands Tercentenary commission, appointed by the Federal Council of Churches to make arrangements for celebrating the three-hundredth anniversary of the settlement of New Netherlands, which embraced the region between the Delaware and Connecticut rivers, including New York city.

The Protestant churches regard the settlement of New Netherlands by Huguenot and Wal

Opera Troubles
May Hold Ganna
On Chicago Stage

CHICAGO, March 3.—Ganna Walska, McCormick, Polish countess and bride of Harold F. McCormick, today offered to help out the Russian Grand Opera company which opens the third week of its engagement Monday. Ganna drifted into her home town, unheralded and unannounced, for her eastern concert tour last night. Accompanied by Mrs. Emma Blaine, her husband's sister, and by her manager, Jules Dalber, the Polish star attended the Russian opera.

After the performance, Dalber approached S. Hurck, manager, and said that, since Sourskaya, star of the company, had left to join a New York company, and last night was Chappalin's last appearance, Ganna Walska might lend a hand as a "guest artist" for a few performances.

Hurck called Leo Feodoroff, impresario, into the conference, but the result was not announced. Madame Walska had planned to leave for California within a week to join her husband.

RETIRED PASTOR
DIES, AGED 78

BERKELEY, March 3.—Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the family home, 2439 Russell street, for Rev. Thomas Deatur Lewis, well known retired minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, whose death occurred yesterday at the age of 78 years.

Born in Pennsylvania, Lewis served in the Civil war and was educated at the Evanston Theological Seminary. He filled many important charges of the Methodist church, both in the East and in California. He came to this state in 1874, and since he retired from the ministry in 1909 has resided in this city.

Rev. and Mrs. Lewis celebrated their fifty-first wedding anniversary last November. On the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary they entertained several hundred friends and for the first time in fourteen years had their entire family of seven children with them.

Dr. Lewis is survived by his widow, Mrs. M. Lucinda Lewis, and by three sons and four daughters. They are Dr. A. Lewis of Everett, Wash.; Arthur A. Lewis of Spokane, Wash.; and Herbert A. Lewis of Seattle, Wash. Mrs. L. Leona Bradford, Misses Delta E. Blanche C. and Myra E. Lewis, he also leaves one grand daughter who resides here, Miss Maurine Bradford.

Mrs. Lewis, who also has been ill at the family home, has recovered sufficiently to attend the funeral services.

MAIDEN NAME
LOST AT ALTAR,
URGES ATTORNEY

NEW YORK, March 3.—Women who cling to their maiden names after marriage are misguided, says Geo. W. Wick, former attorney-general of the United States. In a letter today to the Lucy Stone League, which advocates the practice he condemns.

"I am firmly convinced that nothing more harmful to a woman's welfare than to have her maiden name changed after marriage," he wrote. "Fortunately, I was born in a generation whose women thought it a glory to take their husband's name when they were married."

MacLafferty to See
Fleet at Panama

Congressman James H. MacLafferty announced today in a letter to THE TRIBUNE that he will not be in his office in Washington after tomorrow.

He leaves for Panama to witness the fleet maneuvers and, after a brief stay in Washington on his return, will start for home, coming back over the Northwest route, arriving here on May 1.

"I want the people to know, however," MacLafferty writes, "that any office will be open all through the recess and that they can send departmental matters to this office just the same as if I were here. My secretary will handle the routine until next session."

After May 1 Congressman MacLafferty plans to open an office in this city.

Plasterers of S. F.

Go Out on Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Several score union plasterers employed on local construction work are out of employment today as a result of a clash between the plasterers' union and the Master Plasterers' association, which came to a head yesterday.

The trouble, which has been brewing for some time, grew out of the employment of union and non-union plasterers on the same job to which the union officials objected.

The exact number of men on strike is unknown. Union leaders declared that 450 men quit work, while officials of the Builders' Exchange were certain that not more than 160 walked out.

Motorist May Face
Charge of Murder

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—(By International News Service.)—Henry G. Brock, banker, society and club man, released on $35,000 bail in connection with the running down and killing of three persons by his motorcar, may be arrested on a charge of second degree murder if it was learned today. Brock is already charged with homicide, passing a standing trolley car and with driving recklessly.

20 MORE POLICE
NEEDED AT ONCE,
SAYS COLBURN

Request For Score of New Men and 5 Officers Goes in Monday.

Commissioner Frank Colbourn today announced that he would ask the City Council immediately for 20 more patrolmen on the Oakland force, with one sergeant, two inspectors and two assistant inspectors in addition. A resolution to that effect will be introduced before the council Monday.

"The city is growing so fast that additional policemen are imperative," says Colbourn. "The last budget allowed an extension of the police department, but we did not take advantage of it, as we wished to save the money, but now we can delay no longer."

Colbourn asserts that there is no intention to use the new men in the traffic department. "Traffic is receiving plenty of attention," he says, "but the regular business of patrolling the city is not to be overlooked. The larger the city, the more important is its protection. Oakland is a metropolitan city and its police needs are growing greater every year."

Although 20 new policemen and five new officers are to be picked, Colbourn says he had no intention of starting a new police station or department.

"There will be no Lakeside or West Oakland station," he says. "We have handled matters from the City Hall station in the past and will continue to do so. The trouble with another police station is its overhead. It might be a nice thing to have a West Oakland station, but consider the cost of a building, a garage, officers, light, heat and water, not to mention a patrol wagon and a full set of officers. I am against such a plan. The money which might be used in such a station might better be used in employing more policemen to patrol the city."

Colbourn says he expects that the new men will be selected from the civil service eligible list this month. The civil service board has just completed examinations and about 40 candidates are on the list from which the 25 new men must be chosen.

In a recent bulletin, the chief of police warned patrolmen that they will be responsible for catching liquor, narcotic and other law violators on their beats.

OFFICIALS GREETED BY TENT

RICHMOND, March 3.—Last night's meeting of Pauline Cushman Tent, Daughters of Civil War Veterans, was featured by the visit of Department President Mrs. Margaret Stoner and Junior Vice-President Mrs. C. Daugherty Mrs. Stoner and her staff are on a tour of the state.

HAYWARD

HAYWARD, March 3.—Further investigation of the possibility of establishing an agricultural department of the Hayward High school, to be conducted under the direction of the University of California, was made yesterday by D. B. Crandall, dean of the division of agricultural education of the university. Dr. Crandall was accompanied on his tour of investigation by Russell T. Robinson, county agricultural agent.

P. Johnson, principal of the high school, and members of the board of trustees, were interviewed by Dr. Crandall yesterday to determine the number of students of the high school who desire the establishment of an agricultural department.

Dr. Crandall said that the department at the Hayward High school would be made a model one, established as a pattern for other schools to follow. The direct assistance of higher students and teaching fellows of the university, it is understood, would be given the department by the university.

Chamber Arranges
Member ship Drive

HAYWARD, March 3.—Final decision of a plan of action for carrying on a continuous membership campaign for the Hayward Chamber of Commerce by means of a recently completed organization was announced today by M. A. W. Lee, secretary of the chamber.

Lee said that solicitation will be carried on through a standing committee of ten active chamber members.

The committee, according to present plans, will carry on a two-hour campaign each Thursday from 10 to 12, and will complete a list of names to be added to the roll.

Each retelling member will name his successor. Lee said that each Hayward resident owning property valued at $500 will be asked to join the chamber. The membership committee, Lee said, will be used to increase a fellowship feeling among chamber members.

Date Set For Sale of Street Paving Bonds

HAYWARD, March 3.—Bonds to carry the unpaid assessments for 15 blocks of street work on First, Watkins and D streets, will be placed on sale March 15, it was announced today. The bond is a $500,000 bond, recently authorized by the city council, will amount to $12,500,000. The total cost of street work is $175,000.

E. W. White, city attorney, is now at work preparing the bonds for insurance. It is believed that the larger portion of this insurance will be absorbed by local financial agencies and private individuals of this district. The bonds will carry a six per cent interest.

OLD MAN HAS NEW BRIDE

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—E. L. Deahony, connected with the J. M. Deahony of interests in New York, and whose former wife, Mrs. Daisy Deahony, recently married, has arrived here from New York with a bride, who, formerly, was a well-known actress.

Aged Medicine
Man Greets Spring
In Long Dance

HANFORD, March 3.—Indian Bob, medicine man of the Santa Rosa reservation near Lemoore, in this county, danced all last night before hundreds of white spectators assembled to witness the Indian welcome of Spring.

The ancient red man, reputed to be nearly 80 years of age, went through the steps of the tribal dances hour after hour before a huge bon fire within a circle of Indians, some of whom traveled eighty miles to enter the festivities.

Bob's message to the assembly was that the spirits had tried to weaken his back and legs, but that he was confident he would overcome them and be able to dance until dawn. When the sun rose the old Indian was still on his feet, and he faced the new day with a shout of triumph and a song that is the climax of the strange ritual.

SOLONS PREPARE
CONGRESS PLEAS

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—When the legislature of California wants to dip a finger into federal affairs, it does so by way of a joint resolution, which is in effect a memorial to congress saying that the State of California favors, or opposes some measure or other.

Numerous such resolutions were offered at the first half of the 1932 legislature, and will be up for study and possible passage after the recess next Monday. More may come, because resolutions are not filed in the strict sense of the word, hence the restriction on their introduction to the first half of the session only does not apply to them. Ten joint resolutions have been offered in the assembly this session, and sixteen in the senate. Many of them are of a different kind, pending before congress but some other subjects touched on follow.

Urging the establishment of a forest experiment station in California. Petitioning the federal government to establish a bureau of publicity.

Urging the suppression of the narcotic traffic. Approval of the Colorado river compact. (This was adopted by the California legislature before the current session.)

Favoring the establishment of the Pacific Coast highway system provided for by a bill by Congressman John E. Baker.

Suggesting the establishment of a national redwood park. Endorsing a proposed compensation for veterans, and endorsing the enlargement of the War Risk and Rehabilitation acts to include dependants of veterans.

Seeking modification of the Volstead act.

New U. S. Judge
Will Enforce Laws

John S. Partridge nominated by President Harding for United States district judge for the northern district of California, will give narcotic vendors and bootleggers all the punishment the law will allow, according to an announcement of his views today. He said:

"You can rest assured that any one convicted of violating the federal laws relative to the sale and transportation of narcotics will get the limit the law allows. There will be no half-way punishment. The Volstead act has been written into the government's laws and must be enforced. The bootlegger, whether he be a gangster or a social leader, is a criminal, and upon conviction must be punished."

The first accurate census was taken in England in 1501.

Funeral of Hayward
Pioneer Farmer Held

HAYWARD, March 3.—The funeral of Carl C. Sorenson, a pioneer farmer of the Valle Vista section near here, was held from this city at two this afternoon. Rev. C. W. N. officiated at the ceremony. Interment was in Mount Eden cemetery.

Sorenson farmed in the Valle Vista section for 36 years and was prominently interested in many of the enterprises which led to the development of this entire district. He was 56 years old, and a native of Denmark. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Anna Sorenson, two sons, Hans Sorenson, of Hayward, and a sister, Mrs. Johanna Hansen, of Denmark.

Hayward Posts to Postpone Joint Meet

HAYWARD, March 3.—Decision to postpone the annual joint meeting of the Hayward Post of the American Legion and Women's Auxiliary held until after lent was reached at a meeting of the auxiliary in the Bank of Hayward hall here last night. It is probable that the meeting will be held during the first week of April.

While no definite arrangements have as yet been made, it is believed that the meeting this year will take the form of a dinner dance. Both the Legion and the auxiliary have already appointed committees to arrange for the event.

Altamont Pioneer
Is Critically Ill

BYRON, March 3.—C. H. Christensen, pioneer of the Altamont district, where he has resided for almost half a century, is lying critically ill at his home there, and small hope is held out for his recovery. Failure to respond after a recent operation is said to be the primary cause of his illness. A large family of grown sons and daughters are watching at the bedside of the stricken parent. He is the father of Ed and Jesse Christensen of Byron. Christensen is about 76 years old. He is the pride of the general farming community at Altamont, famous for his numerous automobiles.

WET PAVEMENTS
CAUSE SAN JOSE
MOTOR CRASHES

Two Serious Smashes Occur in Which Woman and Man Incur Hurts.

SAN JOSE, March 3.—Wet pavements caused by a drizzling rain were responsible for two serious accidents near the State Teachers' college here last evening, as a result of which Mrs. Harry Johnson of 318 South Third street, will probably lose the sight of one eye and Jacob Lorenz suffered injuries to his left leg that may cripple him for life.

Mrs. Johnson was riding with her husband at the corner of Seventh and San Antonio streets when Johnson's car was struck by the sliding car driven by J. C. McLeod. Mrs. Johnson was hurled from the car to the pavement, striking on her head. She was rushed to the Columbia hospital where surgeons found that one eye was badly injured. A specialist was rushed to the hospital from San Francisco to operate in hopes of saving the sight of the injured eye. None of the other occupants of either car was injured, although all received a severe shaking up.

In the second accident, which occurred at Sixth and San Fernando streets, just two blocks away from the scene of the first wreck but a few moments later, Jacob Lorenz, riding a motorcycle, slipped in making the turn from San Fernando into Sixth, the motorcycle striking a standing automobile belonging to A. Cotto of Los Gatos. Lorenz received severe cuts about the legs, one of which may have injured the muscles sufficiently to cause permanent impairment. The injured man was removed to the city emergency hospital where he was attended by Dr. Paul Sanford, later being removed to his home.

REFORM URGED IN MEDICAL
TEACHING PLAN

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 3.—Snapping of the old type of medical education and substituting of "something that will stand the light of twentieth century medical science," was urged by Dean Thomas G. Day of Albany, N. Y. medical college before the American medical congress here yesterday. Dean Gray urged greater cooperation between the clinical and laboratory sections of medical schools with less time devoted to dissections.

The Saturday afternoon matinees for children under the direction of the Oakland recreation department will be resumed on March 10. The programs will be offered by the children of the various playgrounds of the city for the entertainment of the children of Oakland. Chaot Hall will be used for the Little Theater. The general public will be invited to witness the "inspirational work" which is being done by the juvenile amateurs.

"The Magic Path." "The Bird with the Magic Wing." "The Birds of the Flag," are the three plays which will be produced at the opening program of the season.

The dances by the young people in "The Magic Path" and "The Birds of the Flag" will be "Minuet," folk and patriotic costume numbers.

School orchestra under the direction of Albert Humphrey will provide the music.

The plays which will contribute to the entertainment are Bushrod, de Fremery, Mosswood, Alexander Community, Campbell and Harrison.

JURY ACQUITS
LAND SELLERS

CHICAGO, March 3.—Daniel Hayes and eleven others connected with the Daniel Hayes Land company were found not guilty on a charge of using the mails to defraud by a jury in federal court here tonight. The government maintained that the company realized more than $4,000,000 by misrepresenting California land which the company sold.

The defendants were: Daniel Hayes, Chicago, president and treasurer of the company; Oscar J. Lamp, Rock Island, Ill., vice-president and western manager; J. F. Rogers, Chicago, vice-president; Rolf W. West, Chicago, sales manager; M. E. Bonce, Chicago, controller; Everett E. Harrison, Chicago, assistant manager; Benjamin sales agent; Charles F. Fries, St. Paul, general sales agent; C. W. Porter, Sacramento, Cal., general sales agent; R. M. Anderson, Chicago, and Stephen Lator, Chicago, sales agents; and Louis F. Courtner, Sterling, Ill., secretary and attorney.

There are 1,150,000 disabled soldiers in England.

Grip Left You
a Bad Back?

ARE you getting over a cold or grip only to find yourself a victim of backache? Are you suffering headaches, too, dizzy spells, a dull, tired worn-out feeling and annoying kidney irregularities? Then don't delay! Physicians agree that a vast number of the worst cases of kidney trouble are the result of germ diseases. In every infectious disease the system is alive with poisonous germs and bacteria. The kidneys are overwhelmed with the rush of new work; they break down, become congested, inflamed and diseased. Too often the real trouble is lost sight of until some dangerous kidney ailment sets in. If your kidneys are falling behind, don't wait for serious trouble. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills today. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Oakland Folks Found Relief:

MRS. HARRIET A. FAULKES, 1738 35th Ave., says: "My kidneys were weak, and if I took cold it settled on my kidneys. I felt tired and had no energy. My back ached and I also had headaches. The action of my kidneys was irregular. A short use of Doan's Kidney Pills has never failed to strengthen my back and kidneys." (Statement given January 11, 1930.)

On December 19, 1932, Mrs. Faulkes said: "I can't say too much for Doan's Kidney Pills, for they rid me of kidney trouble."

R. E. EWART, 2506 High St., says: "I suffered with rheumatic pains. Terrible pains across my back sapped my vitality. There was too much uric acid in my system, and I believe the pains were caused from this trouble. Kidney weakness was another constant ailment, and the secretions were highly colored and otherwise unnatural. I steadily grew worse until relief came through Doan's Kidney Pills. The rheumatism disappeared and Doan's put my kidneys in first-class condition. Eventually Doan's cured me."

MRS. EMMA WILSON, 3450 Penniman Ave., says: "My kidneys became disordered by colds settling in them. At such times my back weakened and pains across my kidneys were most annoying. My kidneys acted irregularly and the trouble played hard on my strength. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in the family with such splendid results that I finally decided to see what they would do for me. They reached the seat of the trouble and rid me of all symptoms in a satisfactory way."

SAN LEANDRO

Rhubarb Growers Talk Market Plan

SAN LEANDRO, March 3.—The board of directors of the California Rhubarb Growers Association, composed of the agriculturists of the San Leandro and San Lorenzo districts, met yesterday to discuss plans for the marketing of the association's rhubarb for this season. An additional conference was arranged at which representatives of the Vegetable Union of Los Angeles and a large commission firm of the bay region would be present.

Arrangements have been made in San Francisco by J. J. Smith, chairman of the directors, and J. P. Ramos, whereby the association's labels and other necessary materials will be furnished shortly.

The association, although working with the Vegetable Union and the commission firm, is an entirely independent unit.

VISITS BROTHER.

SAN LEANDRO, March 3.—J. Foss is visiting his brother, Edward Foss, of East Fourteenth street, following an automobile tour of the state since last November. The visitor, with his wife, following a few days' stay here, will return to his home in Oregon. The state tour was made in the interests of his health.

WOODMEN PLAN DANCE.

SAN LEANDRO, March 3.—Members of the Woodmen of Amador met at Odd Fellows' hall last night to plan a dance, following the Lenten season, to introduce a series of such affairs, and a membership drive through San Leandro and adjacent territory.

LUMBER THEFTS REPORTED.

SAN LEANDRO, March 3.—Thefts of lumber in the Broadmoor section have been reported at the city marshal's office. The lumber, designed for houses building in that section, is usually taken at night, and youthful marauders are thought responsible. A guard will probably be placed at the buildings.

AFTERNOONS FOR CHILDREN READY

The Saturday afternoon matinees for children under the direction of the Oakland recreation department will be resumed on March 10. The programs will be offered by the children of the various playgrounds of the city for the entertainment of the children of Oakland. Chaot Hall will be used for the Little Theater. The general public will be invited to witness the "inspirational work" which is being done by the juvenile amateurs.

"The Magic Path." "The Bird with the Magic Wing." "The Birds of the Flag," are the three plays which will be produced at the opening program of the season.

The dances by the young people in "The Magic Path" and "The Birds of the Flag" will be "Minuet," folk and patriotic costume numbers.

School orchestra under the direction of Albert Humphrey will provide the music.

The plays which will contribute to the entertainment are Bushrod, de Fremery, Mosswood, Alexander Community, Campbell and Harrison.

In 1918-19 emigrants into Canada numbered 117,600.

JURY ACQUITS
LAND SELLERS

CHICAGO, March 3.—Daniel Hayes and eleven others connected with the Daniel Hayes Land company were found not guilty on a charge of using the mails to defraud by a jury in federal court here tonight. The government maintained that the company realized more than $4,000,000 by misrepresenting California land which the company sold.

The defendants were: Daniel Hayes, Chicago, president and treasurer of the company; Oscar J. Lamp, Rock Island, Ill., vice-president and western manager; J. F. Rogers, Chicago, vice-president; Rolf W. West, Chicago, sales manager; M. E. Bonce, Chicago, controller; Everett E. Harrison, Chicago, assistant manager; Benjamin sales agent; Charles F. Fries, St. Paul, general sales agent; C. W. Porter, Sacramento, Cal., general sales agent; R. M. Anderson, Chicago, and Stephen Lator, Chicago, sales agents; and Louis F. Courtner, Sterling, Ill., secretary and attorney.

FIVE COUNTIES TO WAR ON TRADE
IN SLAVE GIRLS

Chinese Traffic in Women On Increase, Alameda Officials Informed.

Menaced by a growing trade in Chinese slave girls in certain parts of the state, Alameda county, through its officials, today prepared to link its strength with four other counties in leveling war upon the evil.

District attorneys of five counties have been called by District Attorney Matthew Brady of San Francisco, to a meeting March 17, to be appraised of certain conditions which District Attorney Brady declared recently had become known to him from information that he had come into his hands, he said he was forced to the conclusion that the traffic in Oriental girls among men of their own race is growing in certain parts of California.

"I want my fellow district attorneys to know the startling things that I have learned," Brady said, "and the result of it will be that we will either send the men responsible for these conditions to prison or back to China."

Ezra Decoto, district attorney of Alameda county, said he knew of no trace being carried on among the alien population of this county, but that he would lend the full strength of his office in helping suppress the traffic.

Prosecutors of Alameda, Fresno, San Joaquin, Contra Costa and Sacramento counties were asked to gather for the conference.

BRITISH FAMILIES
May Go to Brazil

LONDON, March 3.—An endeavor may be made in the near future to settle 15,000 British families in Brazil. Walter Wyssard of Pangbourne, Berkshire, is the person in hand and is conferring with the Brazilian government.

A million acres of agricultural land have been purchased for the production of cotton, cocoa, sugar, tobacco, rubber, coffee and cattle breeding, and the mineral wealth of the region is to be explored. The settlers will be selected from among the officers and men and their families, and will be assisted to the extent of free passages, agricultural implements and the purchase of land by installments out of realized profits.

DIVORCE REVIEW
Asked By Jeweler

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—At the request of Emery Valentine, wealthy jeweler of Juneau, Alaska, the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals reviewed the divorce action of the Valentines, which took place in Alaska. This is the second time in the history of the court in this district that it was called upon to review a divorce action. Valentine stated that he was not satisfied with the terms upon which the divorce was granted. He asked the court to set aside an order to turn certain mining property over to her, which also required him to pay her $7500 at the rate of $125 a month.

DISPUTE OVER CONSULATE CLO NOT ADJUST

Lord Curzon Sends Sh Note On Newcastle Dispute

WASHINGTON, March 8.—International News Service.—A harmonious dispute between Great Britain and the United States at the closing of the American consulate at Newcastle appeared. It today to go down in diplomatic history in the category of unadjudicated incidents.

Great Britain's latest communication, written by Viscount Curzon, minister of foreign affairs, and

ing of sharpness, was recalled at the state department today. It probably will not be answered according to administration officials.

LORD CURZON'S VOTE.
LONDON, March 3.—(By the Associated Press).—The text of a note sent by Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, to George Grey, the American ambassador, regarding the Newcastle consular appointments as follows:

"Excellency: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your excellency's note of February 27th respecting the cancellation of the appointments and recognition of the United States consular officials at Newcastle."

With regard to paragraph 1 of your venture to observe that your excellency had under misapprehension, I have to inform you that

"...saying that his majesty's government has been fully informed by me of the thorough investigation made by my officers of the United States government. Such was the confidence which I had in your government as a member of my department, that I informed verbally last October that such an investigation has been made, and the statement was made in our excellency's note, number 9, of November 8, that two copies were furnished into the facts were acquired by the United States government. His majesty's government, however, not informed of the proceedings in these inquiries, although his majesty's government had already furnished their evidence to the United States government in relation to your excellency, August 10.

QUOTES CUSHING'S ADVISE
"As regards the accuracy of trial with the cancellation of the exequatur of certain British consuls in the United States of America. I venture to refer your excellency to a quotation by the undersigned to the president on that occasion from the commercial treaty of July 3, 1815, Article 10, which provides: "In case of arrest or imprisonment of a consul or of improper conduct towards a consul or government of the country in which he is sent such consul shall be punished according to the laws which will reach the consul sent back, the offended government assigning to the other consul the same." Reference is made to Mr. Cushing's advice to the president in my note above.

Cost of Justice

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—The cost of administering justice in California will not increase in the next biennium, although the number of cases of the courts has grown and their state functions. The men of the Mother Lode have placed their proposal before the state and the response has been widespread and emphatic. That district which, in 1849, opened a new chapter in California history, which was responsible for genuine American literature, and which has

There should be a highway there.

THE SCOUT PAGEANT.

Two hundred and more Boy Scouts are whooping things up Indian-fashion at the Auditorium. They are doing something more than enjoying the fun and the feathers of a red man masquerade for they are depicting faithfully something of the history and tradition of a noble race.

The American Indian is winning a belated recognition as a man of peace. The wars he made were against men who encroached into his lands, against superstition and against distrust of an alien race. Because of these wars and the tales of frontier battles the one side of Indian life and character has received most of the attention.

Recently men have sought out the folk tales and the songs of the Indians and have gleaned from them a new insight into an imaginative and trusting people. The romantic record of early days has disclosed some unpleasant chapters of double-dealing and imposition on the part of the whites. There is a wider understanding.

The Boy Scout Pageant which concludes this evening is showing the better part of Indian life, woodcraft, the symbolic dance, and a love and understanding of nature. The Scouts have entered into the spirit of the pageant. At the same time they are learning and instructing.
Those who go to the Auditorium tonight to see the young Indians will find that their interest is well repaid.

A SCREEN COMEDY

This latest love comedy enacted by Charlie Chaplin and Pola Negri is better than anything he has done on the screen. Unless it all be a hoax from the press agent, and Charlie is not in need of such publicity, it may be accepted that the genius of pantomime has learned a lesson. There will be no more interviews from Chaplin to the effect he is too poor to wed.

The trouble seems to have been the failure of Pola to understand the Chaplin humor. She will get over that in time and may even learn to simulate a polite amusement when wagish friends make original observations concerning her fiancé and cussard pier. Poor Pola, save some sympathy for her.

When reporters asked Charlie Chaplin if he was to be married this summer the actor adopted his usual tactics of the unexpected.
That is how he puts the laugh and the soulthrobs and other things into the pictures. Instead of answering it was none of the reporter's business, instead of kicking the fellow from the bally premises, and instead of answering that the whole program was up to Miss Negri, the comedian pulled a lugubrious face and explained that he was too poor to marry.

Charlie Chaplin with his ten thousand a week, his million dollar pictures—too poor to marry! Too poor? the country asks and "too poor?" echoes Miss Negri with appropriate sobs and gesticulations. "If he is too poor to marry me then he needs must marry a rich girl. Send for the photographers and the reporters, I am about to register sacrifice and disdain."

For a few hours the United States believed Charlie had been jilted. Sentiment became overwhelmingly pro-Chaplin, the Austrian exchange took another drop, and the League of Nations prepared for a conference. Then someone explained to Pola it was all a joke.

The old line about the sweet potatoes "even starting from the ground" is to be applied with double significance to the Delhi community.
A record production last year which put the state in the column of heaviest producers of the sweet potato is to be doubled in 1923 if the growers are able to carry out the plans under contemplation. If it is something to make two blades of grass grow where one grew before how much greater it is to make two succulent sweet potatoes make an appearance where a single one grew? And what is to be said of the resources of soil around a community which can double a record crop in one year?

The charitable will admit the possibility that the Congressman who was unable to answer roll call was intoxicated by the oratory of his colleagues.

If it is true that the shape of one's nose determines his vocation and success it is easy to understand why so many young men become hardware.

New England Pasture.
(After a painting by James Chapin.)
Were I man or were I devil,
I'd not go near a place as evil
As this steep slope of pasture land;
I would avoid those grewsome stones
As though they were the bleaching bones
Of old Earth sticking through her skin.
I would shun those two withered trees
More than a pestilent disease;
And I would work the greatest sin—
Nay, curse the mother of all witchhugs—
Rather than have to put my hand
On one of those three ghostly wags.
No—I'd go on. I have no haste.
To meet the proprietor of this waste.
Well do I know that at the last He'll stride down over the atony ground,
Leap on one nag with a rattling bound,
Stick in his heels and gallop fast,
Laugh as he sees me try to flee—
And trample the last spark out of me.
—Joseph Moncure March.

A Philadelphia man has just been sentenced to six months in prison for spanking his wife. She threw a cup of coffee in his face, and then hit him in the eye with a soft-boiled egg, he told the judge, and then he spanked her.

His technique was all wrong. If he had spanked her first—say, two or three times a week, regularly, as a settled thing, a solemn domestic rite—she would never have thrown the coffee and the egg at him.

There are two sides to the question as to whether husbands should beat their wives, and some very pretty and cogent arguments for and against the practice may be presented. But if a husband does beat his wife, it should be before she shows signs of violence, and not after she has been violent.

Wife-beating should always be a preventive measure, not punitive.
In our estimate, wife-beating is permissible only in order to keep peace and harmony in the household; it should be a dignified and serious thing, gone about as a duty and never in anger.

If it is not done in the proper manner and with the proper spirit discord is certain to creep into the home sooner or later.
Women crave masculine domination—we are aware that it is the current fashion among them to deny this—and when they fight, they fight in order to provoke it—although they do not understand this themselves, or else, understanding it, deliberately repudiate it.

The whole of the current feminist movement in the English-speaking countries has been merely a fight to provoke masculine domination;
and it will bear its real fruit later.
During the "Victorian Era" a sort of pink-peppermint, Tennysonsweetened chivalry was fed to women; it was with the utmost difficulty that they could get up a good fight with a male person. So they revolted; they revolted, not in a struggle for "equality," as they said, and largely thought, but provocatively, so that they could once more be trampled on by man and learn once more to adore him.

USES OF HAFNIUM.
The discovery of a new element that "will not wear out" suggests a number of profitable uses to which it might be put. Hafnium is its name, and if some method of producing it in cheap and workable form can be found it is to be rated as a great blessing to the race. Indeed, the possibilities of hafnium as an alloy, ingredient or composition element are practically limitless. What a boon it would be if it could be so produced that it could be woven into the heels of socks or the seats of trousers or built into shoe soles and other noticeable fruits of modern industry.—Washington Post.

JUST FOLKS By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE YOUTH BEHIND.
Someone will take your place when you are gone.
Will come as you to face the morning mail.
Hear the small talk and bear the burden on.
And in his care the venture will not fail.

You may be brave and wise and quick and strong.
You may command with courage and with grace.
But one shall come, when you have passed along.
And serve with equal splendor in your place.
And he may see what you have never seen.
May find new ways your feet
have never trod.
And he may go where you have never been.
For, after all, the greatest of us

MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN.
It is doubtful if in American history there can be found the record of a woman who by constant and devoted service contributed more to the success of an illustrious husband than did Mrs. John
A. Logan, who died yesterday in Washington. Mrs. Logan not only had much to do with shaping her husband's career; she largely made it.

But a few years after her marriage as a girl of 17, she was virtually her husband's aid de camp in the raising of his regiment in southern Illinois. Next she organized and later throughout the war she was with him whenever and wherever by her wise counsel and tact she could be of assistance to him.

It was the same in his political life after the war. Always at his side, notably at the encampments of the Grand Army of the Republic when the influence of that organization was especially potent, she helped greatly in establishing his position as a public man and in promoting his prestige. His interest and advancement were her constant object and she was undoubtedly the first factor in his successes.

After his death she was a constantly devoted to his memory.
One of the last acts of her life was to make a vigorous protest against the removal to another site of the Saint Gaudens statue of Logan in Grant Park.
Mrs. Logan was possessed of most pleasing social qualities and had the ability to write interestingly and to conduct a woman's magazine with success. She will be chiefly remembered, however, for what she was able to add to the success and renown of John A.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Head Physician and Author

A SHEEP IN WOLF'S CLOTHING.
One reason why I have such a gloomy disposition, I suspect, is a picture of a disease microbe which I found in an almanac in my school or studies in pathology and symptomatology. That microbe had powerful wings, long sharp claws, a tail with a stinger at the tip like a scorpion's, a bunch of sharp angulated knees, and the most fiendish grin a demon ever wore to have his picture taken. Old Doctor Bunker, who published the almanac, it seemed, had worked up a germ killer warranted to destroy at 40 rods practically everything in sight save the sucker, who was temporarily spared to purchase another bottle of the remarkable booze. Fortunately I didn't happen to have the price of a bottle put that microbe has ranked in my
"boozem" ever since.

Thanks to some pretty magazines, the modern housekeeper, who is certainly an artist in dodging house work, harbors some such conception of microbes as that inspired by the portrait which Bunker gave the trembling world.
The housekeeper is still importuned to spread germicides or disinfectants about the place with a view to trapping and destroying the germs which, if you take your magazine seriously, "lurk" under the sink or behind the bathtub presumably in readiness to spring out upon some unsuspecting guest and bury their teeth and claws in his throat before he can holler for the lysol.

The ordinary guest would be

To the Editor of the Tribune:

A FESTIVAL PLAN.
At this time a discussion is going on about an annual festival to be held here in Oakland. May I in the full pride of my city offer a suggestion?

Have seen the Mardi Gras of New Orleans, the Villedu Prophet of St. Louis, The Portola of San Francisco, and while they are all great festival affairs, why can't we of Oakland have a festival that could be allegorical and a time of jollity? Here is my suggestion:
The Festival of the Acorn—symbolical of the growth of the mighty oak—our namesake. As the acorn grew into the mighty oak so the village grew around the oak tree—and to have the mighty city grown oak—like to sturdiness—and casting out its branches over the surrounding country while its leaves are the homes of the dwellers scattered over a fair land, summer-like at all times, hence, evergreen and imperishable. The great buildings, edifices and industries, are the branches growing and spreading intertwined through "My City Oakland."

For the allegory, or pageant part of the festival, the growth of the city could be shown, the first settlers, the commencement of commerce, the railroad, etc., each one or rather event, a new limb on our Oak (land) tree.

ROADS AND TRAILS.

A total of $34,542,062 has been appropriated by the government to the states for roads and trails within or adjacent to the national forest. Total expenditures of Federal and cooperative funds amounting to $22,216,734 have already been disbursed. To date 4786 miles of road and 6711 miles of trail have been constructed and 8744 miles of road and trail have been repaired and improved.—Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

Workers Ask Two Weeks More to Visit Prospects; Eastbay Cities Asked to Make Total of $300,000

With only 800 interviews completed out of a prospect list of 2000 names, the Mills College endowment campaign shows a total of $234,271 subscribed, according to reports of workers and committees submitted at the luncheon of the special solicitation committee in Hotel Oakland yesterday.

In order that the remaining 1200 persons, who have not been given the opportunity to contribute to the endowment fund, may not be overlooked in the present campaign, to obtain $400,000 to complete a million dollar fund the next two weeks will be devoted to special calls on prospects.

A meeting of the central committee will be held Tuesday evening at which time plans for the continued campaign will be outlined.

A number of workers reported that despite the extension of time given them they had been unable to complete their calls and requested that they be permitted to retain their cards and continue the work until it was finished.

$300,000 IN EASTBAY.
Progress of the campaign so far has been highly satisfactory. Lyman Pierce, campaign manager, told the workers, adding that only time will be necessary to bring the total subscriptions up to $300,000 in the Eastbay cities. If this amount is secured, the remaining $400,000 necessary to make the $700,000 quota can be secured from other sources, he declared.

A. S. Lavenson, general chairman, expressed the opinion that the campaign had met with popular approval.

"The great number of small subscriptions shows that persons of limited means in Oakland are as much interested in the success of Mills as those of more substantial incomes," concluded Lavenson.

The workers extended Lavenson a vote of thanks for his successful efforts in the campaign.

State Churches To Fight Ban on New Structure

Appeal to Courts Planned in the Conflict on Northbrae Building.

BERKELEY, March 3. — As the first step toward fighting action taken by the Berkeley City Council yesterday in refusing to allow the erection of a new Northbrae Wesley M. E. Church at Hopkins street and Napa avenue, a mass meeting of the San Francisco Bay Federation of Churches will be called immediately, according to Dr. E. P. Dennett, president of the Berkeley Fellowship of Churches.

That the ministers of the entire State will be called upon to aid the Berkeley church in locating on the site purchased in the Northbrae region was the declaration today by Bishop Adna Wright, presiding bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in California, and Dr. Dennett, as leader of Berkeley ministers.

The entire matter will be placed before the State Federation of Churches.

"Are we going on in this fight?" Most assuredly we are," declared Bishop Leonard today. "We regard yesterday's action of the council as a violation of an American right, a right which will be defended to the utmost. We are formulating preliminary plans now, and just what our definite line of action will be is hard to say at present. However, we are confident that we will not let the matter drop."

"The constitution of the United States declares that Congress shall make no laws that will interfere with the free exercise of religion, and certainly a city council has no greater powers than Congress," was the declaration today of Dr. Dennett. "If Berkeley were the worst of them there is no reason why churches cannot be shut out of residential areas throughout the country."

According to Dr. Dennett, F. D. Parr of San Francisco, president of the Bay Federation of Churches, which includes pastors and laymen from both sides of the bay in its membership, has been asked to call a mass meeting of the body headed by him for the present. Dr. Dennett, in steps toward raising funds and arranging other details necessary to carry on a fight in the courts are expected to be taken by the meeting.

Members of the Northbrae region who were responsible for keeping the church from their exclusive residential area on the plea that it would "disturb their peace and quiet" and "depreciate property values," while jubilant today over their victory at yesterday's council meeting, declare that they will give every assistance possible to the Northbrae church and its pastor, Rev. A. A. Christensen, in locating in an adjoining section, where objections will not be raised.

"We are not fighting the church as a church," he declared. "We are fighting the action of a city council which is not a religious edifice next to our homes," is the statement of F. W. Pope, 1953 Napa avenue.

MASTERS IN ADVANTAGES COURT HEARS OF OAKLAND INDICTMENT ARE SHOWN

Man Accused of Killing His Wife Appears Without Counsel; Attorney Named; Trial Is to Be Hastened

By JOHN E. TIEDEMAN, Staff Correspondent of The TRIBUNE.

SANTA CRUZ, March 3.—Pale and nervous, and perceptibly thinner when he was first incarcerated in the county jail here last Thursday, John R. Masters, estate broker, today listened to the reading of a grand jury indictment charging him with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Masters, on the night of February 22.

Masters was not required to plead today, this formality having been set by Superior Judge B. K. Knight for next Monday morning. COURT NAMES COUNSEL.

Upon Masters' declaration that he was not represented by counsel, Judge Knight appointed E. C. Kramer, a local attorney, to defend him, and announced that because of the complexity of the case he would also appoint an associate counsel to aid Kramer next Monday.

The murder indictment against Masters was returned by the grand jury at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after two hours' investigation and examination of witnesses.

Among those examined were H. H. Helen Masters, the 9-year-old daughter of the accused man; Mrs. L. M. Masters Graham, his married daughter, and Dr. A. L. Phillips, the physician who was called to the scene of the slaying. Only five witnesses were called, the two others being Police Chief Frank K. Hanna and Police Officer Robert J. Baxter, who arrested Masters.

ACCUSED MAN NERVOUS. Masters appeared to be in a highly nervous state when he was led into Judge Knight's courtroom at 10 o'clock this morning to listen to the reading of the indictment. He was pale, and his appearance of lost flesh during the nine days of his imprisonment.

Following the reading of the indictment, he was remanded to the custody of Sheriff Howard Knight, without bail. District Attorney Stanford Smith says the trial will take place this month.

The grand jury was impaneled at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to take up the charges against Masters, and was instructed in its duties by Judge Knight.

After the nineteen names of the new jurors had been drawn, Judge Knight appointed Harley E. Irish his foreman. Irish is a well known merchant and banker of Santa Cruz. The jury began its work on the Masters case shortly after 2 o'clock when the many exhibits of the case were called for. These included the stout steel bar with which the slaying of Mrs. Masters was alleged to have been done, the front screen door of the home on Otis street and a blood-stained nightgown worn by Masters on the fatal night.

CHILD CHIEF WITNESS. The most important of these was the little nine-year-old daughter, Helen, of the accused man. Her story, according to the police, was the most important of all those told to the members of the grand jury. Little Helen was brought to the courthouse by the nation from the Detention Home, where she has been placed, virtually incommunicado, by the police several days ago.

Possibilities of This City As Industrial Center Are Detailed to John N. Willys at C. of C. Luncheon Here

The advantages Oakland offers to new industries and the possibilities of the city as a factory site for gigantic manufacturing concerns were outlined yesterday to John North Willys, president of the Willys Motor Car company, who is here for further consideration of location for his new Pacific coast factory, at a luncheon given by the Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Oakland.

The luncheon was under the auspices of the chamber's new industries committee and was attended by about 100 of the city's leading business men.

While the guest of honor, in a brief address, made no open declaration that he favored Oakland above other Pacific coast cities contending for the branch factory, he did say that he planned to break ground for a western plant within the next eight months and guests at the meeting interpreted his remarks as highly promising to this city.

HONOR GUEST AT LUNCHEON. Willys arrived in the city yesterday on the "Over" train from Los Angeles. He was met at the depot by a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce and was shown the industrial advantages and beauty spots of the city. Later, Norman Campbell, chairman of the industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the luncheon and introduced the various speakers.

"We are always glad to meet people from the outside, and particularly successful business men from other communities," said Joseph B. Knowland, in welcoming the guest of honor. "While we are assembled here as citizens of Oakland and representatives of the Eastbay, we are primarily Californians, and represent a class that has broadcasted throughout the entire country the advantages, scenic beauties and potentialities of this whole state."

"We have unlimited faith in the future development of this city and this faith is based on accurate statistics. Oakland is the third city in rapidly of growth in the United States of America—a splendid record. Everywhere we go, whether we look up, down or straight ahead, we see progress. During the past year, building permits were granted totaling $24,000,000, and we believe that this year will far exceed that $2,000,000, a month of the previous twelve months."

INDUSTRIAL GAINS SHOWN. "If anyone had ever predicted that when the war shippingbuilding, with its tremendous payrolls and thousands of employees, stopped, it would reflect not in the least on the prosperity the community experienced at that time, he would have been called optimistic. However, the taking away of that industry made not a ripple. Today we face ahead in payrolls and employees of where we were during the war."

"Few communities have the rail and water facilities that we have. With its 27 miles of water front, this city offers shipping facilities to all portions of the planet that cannot be competed with. Here you have a center where your goods can be manufactured and shipped to all parts of the world."

In concluding his address, Knowland pointed out the part that good living conditions play in the furtherance of industry in regard to the employee problem, and told of the house, facilities of the city. He paid a tribute to Willys, and declared that local business men were glad to have him with them as a guest, whether he decided to build his western factory in Oakland or some other city on the Pacific coast.

Greatest Harbor Here. E. C. Lawrence, head of the Lawrence Warehouse company, was the next speaker.

"The last time Mr. Willys was here we were expanding under difficulties," he said. "Since then, our water facilities for shipping have been greatly improved. A year ago, our harbors were not deep enough, but later they were deepened through the efforts of our city officials and now Oakland can compete with all shipping on the coast. At present we have but one disadvantage. So far, Oriental ships land only in San Francisco, but even with that included, we are on a shipping basis with every other port."

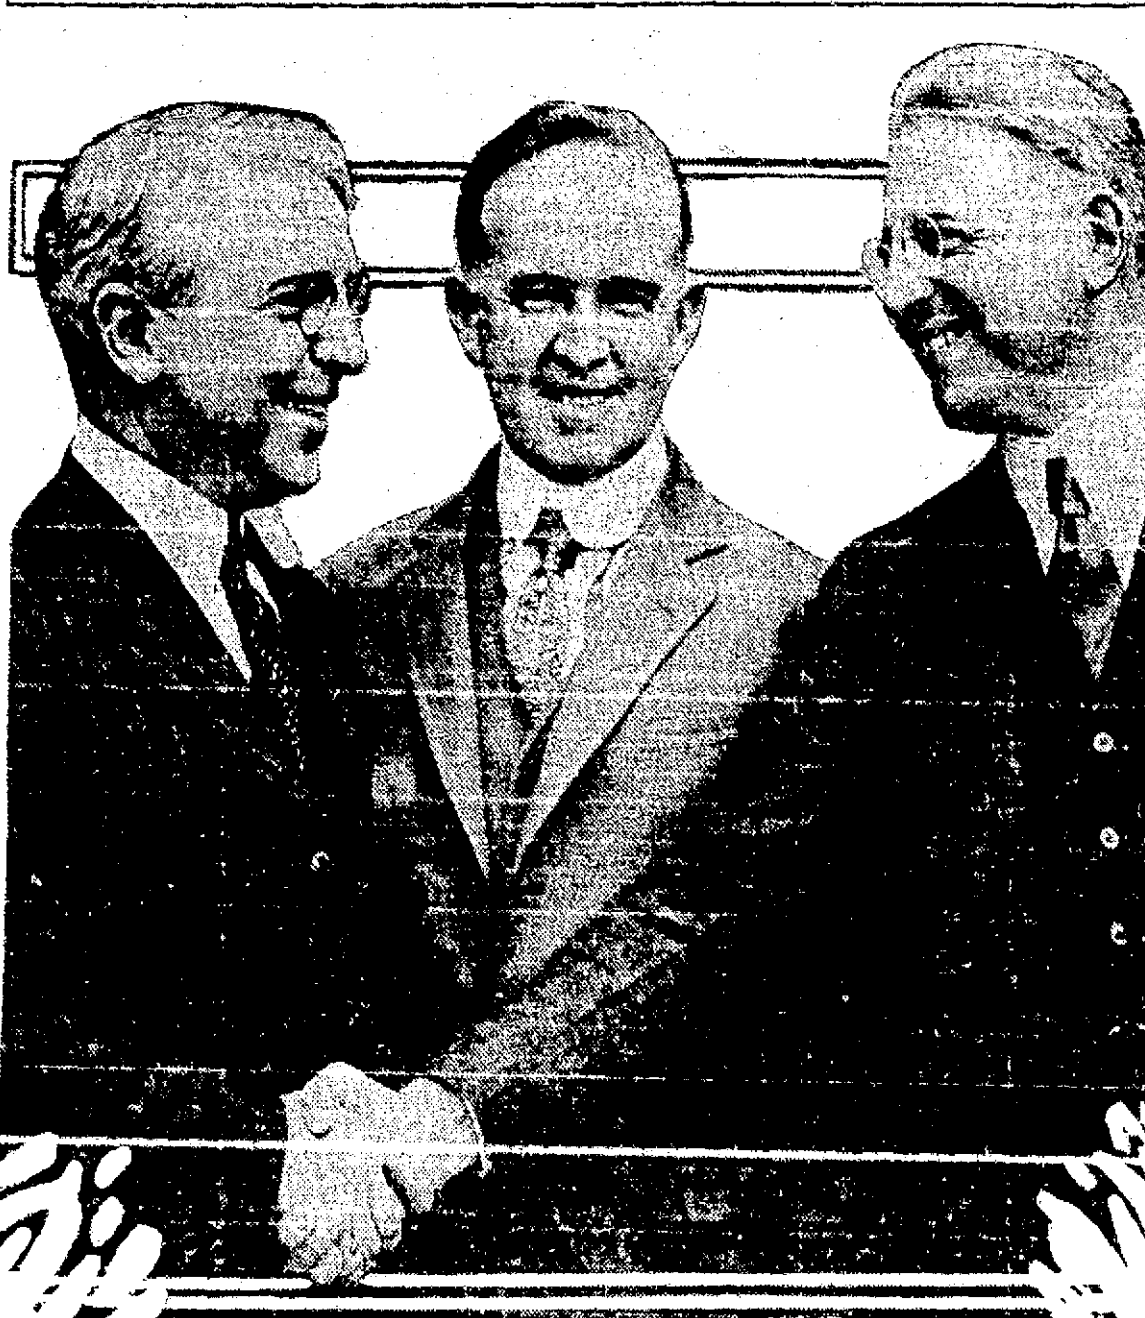

"In my mind there are four points on the Pacific coast that offer the greatest facilities for good commerce. These are: Puget Sound, the mouth of the Columbia river, San Francisco bay and the southwestern corner of the United States. Here at the Golden Gate is the point of egress for the entire country. The Golden Gate is the neck of the bottle and through it must pass all of the commerce between the United States and the Orient. Here we have the connection of rail and water and the greatest harbor on the coast."

WILLYS IS NON-COMMITAL. "A map put out by the United States Chamber of Commerce," said H. C. Capwell, "shows California as one of the best places in the country for industries to locate. And on that map there is one place more advantageous than all other points in this great state, and that place is Oakland. Our record of the new industries that have located here within the past year illustrate this better than anything else."

build his western factory in Oakland or some other city on the Pacific coast.

Willys refused to commit himself regarding his plans for the location of his proposed western plant. He declared that other cities, including Los Angeles and San Francisco, were "wide awake" and making urgent bids for the factory. He spoke of California enthusiastically and declared he hoped that some time he would be permanently located in the state.

"You have the right conditions here and the right kind of prospects," he said. "Since my visit here a year ago I can see that not only Oakland but the entire Eastbay community has grown fast and prospered and I can see that sometime, it will be one of the greatest commercial and industrial centers of the country."

"However, regarding the location of our factory, that is a matter that must be decided by statistics. But I can say quite positively that we will build a plant in California within the next eight months."

Counsel For Co-Defendant in Burglary Case Charges Trade Convicted His Client, Favored Dorney

Accusing the jury that tried Thomas Walsh and John Dorney of burglary of having traded votes in order to find Walsh guilty and Dorney innocent, the counsel for the defense of Walsh today asked that all the members of the jury be subpoenaed to appear in court Monday to be questioned as to the manner in which they had arrived at the verdict.

After a bitter court battle of five weeks, following two trials that ended in disquisitions of the jury, the jury, now under first last night found Walsh guilty of having burglarized a cafe near the Sixteenth street station, of $300 in returning a verdict on Dorney, who was charged with Walsh in the information, the jury failed to agree.

When Walsh came up for sentence before Superior Judge H. D. Burroughs this morning, counsel for the defendant said the jury had bartered votes in order to secure the conviction of one man and secure the liberty of the other. It was also claimed that C. W. Kinsey, one of the jurors, had attempted to influence the other jurors and it was asked that his alleged misconduct be examined into.

Judge Burroughs denied the motion for a new trial, and said that if the counsel for the defense wished to bring an investigation of the alleged compromise in the jury verdict he must present the information in affidavit form from one of the jurors, charging a violation of the law. The case was continued until Monday.

In the motion for a new trial, counsel for the defense cited ten points, the most sensational of which were that the jury had listened to evidence outside of court; the jury had not been kept separate during recess periods; misconduct of certain jurors; arrival of a verdict by lot, and that the court had erred in its decision during the trial.

THE BOY THAT FAILED

FATHER had planned a brilliant future for him. Mother's high hopes for his success were supported ably by her everlasting faith in him.

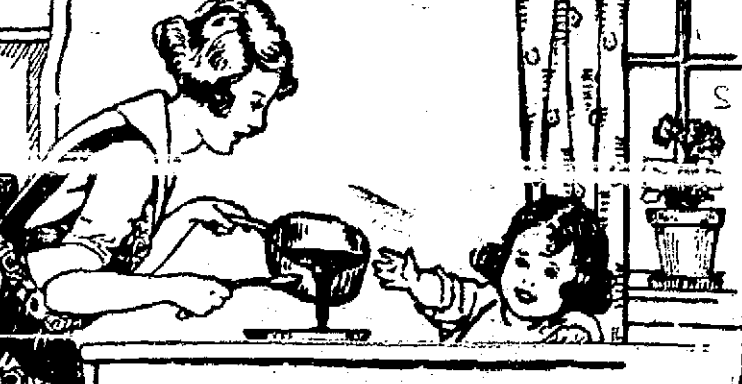

But the boy was a bitter disappointment. He was being outdistanced steadily by his schoolmates, was dull, listless all the time, "felt sick" most of the time, never had "pep" for play nor ambition for his future.

Father had about given him up. Poor mother's heartstrings were nearing the breaking point. Evidently, it was not to be.

Then an old friend of the family—a man successful in every sense—came to the boy's rescue. Today, the father is proud of the boy who is indeed a joy to his mother.

It was simply a case of poor digestion, sluggish liver and constipation gradually draining the system and poisoning the system.

Dr. Cassell's Pills were recommended as well as efficient, the old friend suggested them. They made the boy well—as they have hosts of other children, and grown-ups, too, who suffered from this condition.

Plans to Have Own Lumber From Mexican City

881 MILLION FT. LUMBER OUTPUT SINCE JAN. 1

Profitable Home Trade Conditions Prove Chief Stock Market Impulse

Production Still Slightly Below Normal Though Demand Is Above Mark.

One hundred and thirty-nine mills reporting to West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the week ending February 24th, manufactured 881,414 feet of lumber, sold $2,570,570, and shipped 111,952,156 feet.

STEPS TAKEN FOR AGRICULTURAL ADDITION TO U. C.

Club Launches Move to Urge Purchase of Land Near Berkeley Campus.

BERKELEY, March 3.—Steps toward calling a conference of representatives from civic and other public spirited organizations about the way to consider the needs of the University of California in acquiring more land for agricultural investigation purposes in Berkeley were taken yesterday by the Public Spirit Club.

Action of the club followed a talk by Dr. Elwood Mead, professor of rural institutions at the state university, who urged the necessity for action. A committee to draft resolutions in behalf of the club and to prepare for a conference at which the needs of the public and understood by civic organizations about the bay. The committee consists of F. H. Stow, R. B. Cadwalader, F. H. Thatcher, R. R. Patterson and Frank May.

CASE REVIEWED.
In his address to the business and professional men assembled at the weekly meeting of the club, Dr. Mead explained the efforts made two years ago in Sacramento to have the college of agriculture moved from Berkeley to Davis. In discussing the history of the case and its present aspects, Dr. Mead said in part:

"Action was postponed until a commission, appointed by the governor, could investigate and report on whether the College of Agriculture should remain at Berkeley as a part of the university or should be made a separate college. After visiting ten institutions and conferring with some of the foremost educators, the commission was unanimous that the college should remain at Berkeley.

"The commission recommended, however, that Davis be made a part of the future scheme by providing for students spending the first two years of their course there. This plan requires all students in agriculture to spend their first two years at Berkeley, but, if this is to be done, land must be provided. There is no land at Berkeley at present for animal and plant demonstrations, for orchards, greenhouses, barns or livestock. All of these are essential equipment of other colleges. Without them the people of the state will look on Berkeley with distrust and consider Davis as the real agricultural college. The amount and value of the educational work now carried on at Berkeley, or the fact that it is the center of the extension service, will not be recognized.

AREA AVAILABLE.

Dr. Mead said that California should have the foremost college in the country and that the variety and value of the state's products would be increased. "But, until land is provided, plans for permanent development cannot be made," he continued. "It was the opinion of educators consulted that 100 to 200 acres at Berkeley would meet the requirements and enable the college to challenge comparison with other institutions of like standing. Such an area is available near the institution. The regents have recommended an appropriation of $300,000 for its purchase."

Organist in Charge Of Campus Service

William W. Carruth, well known organist and teacher of the pipe organ at Mills College, will have charge of the campus service of music tonight at Berkeley. The service will be held in Lissner Hall from 7 to 8 o'clock. These vesper services of music given on the first Sunday of each month are attracting an increasing number of off-campus residents. Among the organist, Paul Alwyn, violinist, will play the euphonium, a baritone horn.

NEW DEGREE TEAM AT WORK

ALAMEDA, March 3.—A new team will put on the degree work tonight for the Alameda Chapter, Order of De Molay, in the clubrooms in the Masonic Temple, Park street and Alameda avenue, as announced by A. F. Crockett, master counselor.

Judge Holds Court in Home

Here's the latest thing in court attire as worn by JUDGE JOHN H. PAUL of Albany. Judge Paul's doctor has forbidden him to leave his home and this novel attire worn in a courtroom fitted up in the living room of the Paul duelling is the result.

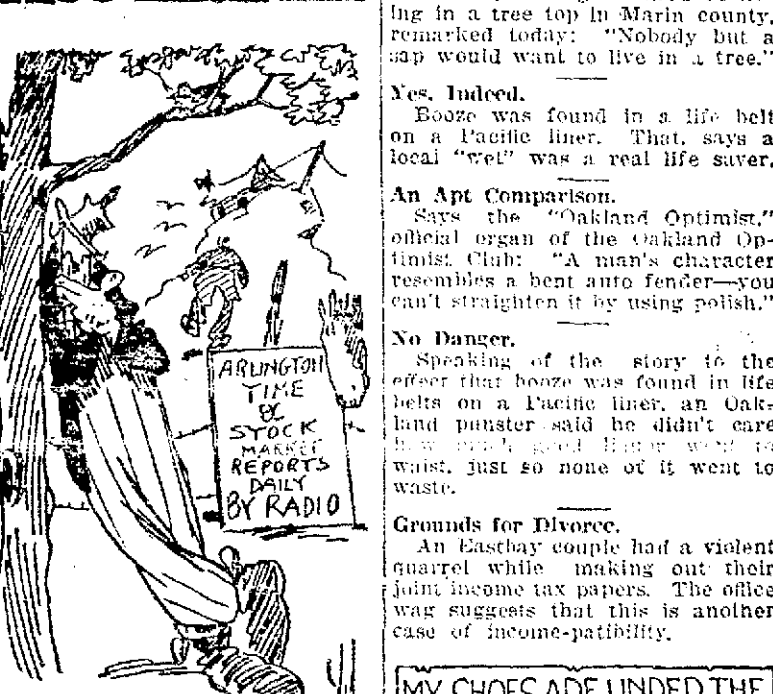

Eva Fay Tells How Spooks Can Be Produced at Home

"Rub a Mirror With Suds." Ghosts will show themselves in a mirror, says Mrs. Fay. One must believe it. One must be credulous. If the sifter is doubtful, no spooks will show up. Spooks have skeptical people, says Eva Fay.
Never before has a medium as famous as Eva Fay bared the secrets of her activities as a seer and prophet of the supernatural. She tells how to make spooks at home. Anyone can do it, Mrs. Fay declares. There is a secret formula. The recipe is given in Eva Fay's articles in THE TRIBUNE.

Here, There and Everywhere in the Eastbay

Here's Hoping.
Pool and billiards are barred in South Carolina. An Oakland devotee of both games says he hopes California reformers don't take their cue from South Carolina.

An Endless Supply.
"Reformers may destroy all the billiard balls in America," says an Eastbay member of the board to Reform the Reformers. "But there'll still be plenty of solid ivory left."

A Natural Result.
A New York doctor says we don't breathe correctly. To which a Berkeley dry adde that bootlegging has undoubtedly had a dire influence on the collective breath of the nation.

ALBANY JUSTICE ON BENCH IN COTTAGE COURT

Judge Paul Sick, Holds Sessions at Home; Jail For U. C. Student.

ALBANY, March 2.—Speeders and other offenders in Albany are learning their fate these days in a small brown shingled bungalow where Judge John Henry Paul is holding court.

A fortnight ago Judge Paul was taken ill. Several days ago he recovered sufficiently to be about the house but Dr. J. J. Benton, his physician, refused to allow him to leave his dwelling. Pleas of a crowded court calendar with more than a score of speeders and other motor vehicle law violators waiting to know their fate were made in vain by the judge.

Then the judge had a happy idea. He delved into law books and consulted city authorities and then he proposed this question to his physician:

"Any objection to my holding court in my home?"

"None at all," responded Dr. Benton.

And so it has come to pass that violators of the law in Albany are finding a novel court scene awaiting them when they appear for trial. They are ushered into the living room of the Paul bungalow at 340 Evelyn avenue. There they find a library table drawn up before a cheery fire in an open grate and "his honor" garbed in bathrobe and slippers, sitting on a "bench" in the form of a big arm chair.

JUSTICE FROM ARM CHAIR.
As a result of the justice's "arm chair" decisions, A. W. Johnston, junior student at the University of California, residing at the Oxford apartments, Berkeley, is spending 24 hours in the county jail, while Miss Marcelle Conkling, senior student of 2239 Dwight way, has lost the privilege of driving a car for two weeks.

Miss Conkling's plea that she was working her way through the university and had merely borrowed a car from a friend won the judge's sympathy and she was warned that another offense would mean a jail term.

Miss Conkling was charged with traveling 35 miles an hour and Johnston was arrested for traveling at the same rate of speed. The latter was given the alternative of a $10 fine or one day in jail and chose the latter.

OTHERS PAY FINES.
Other speeders coming before Judge Paul in his home yesterday and the fines imposed were: A. C. Treppord, painter, 261 Seventeenth street, Oakland, $10; L. A. Yost, chauffeur, 748 East Seventy-seventh street, Oakland, $10; Walter Martin, chauffeur, 2245 Valley street, $10.

Judge Paul, according to his physician, will not be able to leave his home for two weeks and in the meantime court will continue to be held in the bungalow.

S. F. Express Rates Boost Hearing Opened by I. C. C.

The Interstate Commerce Commission today began an important hearing in San Francisco in connection with the petition of the American Railway Express for an increase in rates throughout the entire country. Inquiries have been conducted in many American cities and the taking of evidence for the express company's petition is now being completed. The chambers of commerce of Oakland, San Francisco, Sacramento, Stockton and Los Angeles, as well as representatives of the Retail Dry Goods Association of those cities and persons representing creameries and ice cream interests were in attendance.

Evidence offered during the morning tended to show that the proposed increase, which the express company hopes to approximate 20 per cent would result in the diversion of heavy tonnage to fast freight and parcel post.

The American Railway Express was represented by attorneys H. F. Marks, Alfred Sutro and A. E. Roehl. These attorneys also appeared for the transportation companies over which the railway express operates.

OAKLAND C. C. REPRESENTED.
The Oakland Chamber of Commerce was represented by E. W. Hollingsworth, R. T. Boyd and the firm of Bishop & Bahler. Seth Mann appeared for the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, representing a sick bed in order to be on hand. Attorney Hugh Gordon, counsel for the State Railroad Commission at Mann's request, examined the first witnesses, A. T. White, member of the executive committee of the Central California Traffic Association of Retail Dry Goods Stores, traffic manager of the Emporium and president of the Western Traffic conference, including the retail dry goods stores of the Western States. He presented figures concerning the business of the Emporium only, but declared that a similar situation prevailed among the other large retail department stores of California. During the year 1922 the Emporium did a business of $15,000,000, he said. In 1921 the store received by express 31,652 packages of 945,366 pounds, at a cost of $139,653.80. In 1922 it received 32,308 packages, weighing 830,113 pounds, at a cost of $126,882.81. White explained that 115,272 pounds less had been received in 1922 over 1921, at an approximate saving of $13,000, the diversion occurring because it was much cheaper to ship certain packages by parcel post and the Acme Fast Freight service from New York. This diversion was indicated by the fact that in 1921 the store received only 16,000 pounds by parcel post, and in 1922, 42,000 pounds, the business of the firm increasing in ready-to-wear and style merchandise, 20 per cent in 1922 over 1921.

LESS MERCHANDISE COST.
The increase in parcel post packages came as the result of our desire to decrease the cost of merchandise landed here. Between June 1 and December 31, 1922, we used the Acme Fast Freight and Express Service, diverting from the American Railway Express 75,026, at a cost of $418,661. Our only purpose for the diversion from express to parcel post and fast freight was the landing of merchandise here at much less cost. The express tariff from New York to San Francisco is 14.02, as against 5.07 for fast freight.

Attorney Gordon inquired particularly as to what would be the result of the granting of a substantial increase to the express company.

"Unquestionably it would result in a greater diversion to parcel post and fast freight or increase cost to the consumer."

EXPRESS SYSTEM SAFER.
On the other hand, the witness said that a substantial downward revision of rates would mean that the diversion would be practically eliminated.

"We would much prefer to ship by express altogether," White asserted. "The company has a unique system of following up and tracing, and we can keep track of our merchandise at all times."

White said he thought that large firms should receive a preferential rate on shipments of from 1000 to 5000 pounds, when coming from centers like New York and Chicago. As Western centers of population are so far removed from the headquarters of style that it is necessary to rush new creations here in large quantities at the earliest possible moment.

White was followed on the stand by Harry Browning, representing the retail dry goods association of Los Angeles and the Broadway Department Store of that city. His testimony was almost identical with that of White, his client adopting the same method of shipment.
